The city council held its regular meeting last night at 7 o'clock. The meeting was called to order by Mayor Murphy. The first item on the agenda was the report of the finance committee on the proposed budget for the coming year. The budget provides for an increase in wages for city employees to 2.75 per cent. The committee recommended that the budget be adopted. However, the council decided to postpone action on the budget until the next meeting. Other business was also transacted.

House Judiciary Committee to Report BIG WRECK AT DUNKIRK, N. Y.
Bill to Enforce "Dry" Law

WASHINGTON, July 1.—The house judiciary committee probably will meet Monday to report out a straight bill for enforcement of wartime prohibition so as to stop the sale of 2 3/4 per cent beer. This plan virtually was agreed upon today after leaders had decided to defer consideration of all prohibition legislation until next week. House leaders said that if the bill were reported by the committee Monday or Tuesday it would be passed without extended debate and sent to the senate. At best, they said, 2 3/4 per cent beer would be on the market less than two weeks.

JUSTICE DEPT PLANS TEST CASES
WASHINGTON, July 1.—Test cases on the sale of beverages containing more than one-half of one per cent of alcohol will be brought immediately by the department of justice in all jurisdictions where such cases are not now pending.

"We propose to make immediate arrests of persons who violate the war time prohibition law according to our interpretation thereof," Attorney General Palmer said today. "The department does not intend, however, to be swept off its feet the first day that prohibition comes into effect. We will proceed in an orderly fashion to establish whether intoxicating beverages proscribed by the law include those having less than 2 3/4 per cent alcohol."

Atlantic City Saloons Selling Booze
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 1.—Practically every saloon in this resort was open today and dispensing liquid refreshments of all kinds. Whiskey, brandy, gin and any other sort of liquor called for was served to patrons.

The exceptions were the beach front hotels, all but one of which closed their barrooms. Wholesale houses also were closed.

SHOOK HANDS HERE WITH IRISH PRESIDENT

George Rodgers, of 65 Butterfield street has the unique honor of being the first Lowell man to shake hands in this city with Eamon de Valera, provisional president of the Irish republic, that honor having come to him wholly unexpectedly last evening when Mr. de Valera and his party passed through here on the way to Manchester, N. H.

Mr. de Valera's arrival here was unheralded and few people recognized the distinguished leader even though he passed through several of the principal streets. It was about 6.30 that Rodgers, who is about 21 years old, was standing against the fence of the Franco-American orphanage at School and Pawtucket streets reading an account of the reception tendered Mr. de Valera in Boston last Sunday. A party of autists, including five machines, was coming up Pawtucket street and just as the leading machine reached School street it suffered a blowout. Rodgers paid little attention to the incident as he assumed that the occupants were merely tourists on their way to New Hampshire.

He continued his reading but a little later was interrupted by one of the members of the party who came over to him, asked him his name and what he was reading. Rodgers replied that he was interested in the reception given Mr. de Valera at Fenway park and his questioner, who later turned out to be a local reporter, asked him to shake hands with the Irish president.

WHOLE NATION AWAKES TO REALIZATION OF PROHIBITION—Ban on 2 3/4 p. c. Held Up
WASHINGTON, July 1.—The whole nation awoke today to the realization of prohibition. Only those who had stocked up in advance for the long drought or who could find solace in 2 3/4 per cent brew were able to carry out the time-honored custom of stirring the day with an early morning bracer.

Wartime prohibition, banning for the time being all distilled liquors and leaving in a cloud of doubt the future of beer, was effective at midnight. Exemption of beer from the list of forbidden beverages came as a result of an 11th-hour announcement by the department of justice that pending decisions in present litigation to determine whether a brew containing more than one-half of one per cent of alcohol is intoxicating.

FIREWORKS HIT TRAIN OF GERMAN DELEGATES

BERLIN, July 1 (By the Associated Press).—Hermann Mueller and Dr. Johannes Bell, the German peace treaty signatories, arrived here at 4 o'clock yesterday morning. Members of the party said that just before arriving at Compiegne occupants of the dining car were startled by a stone or a piece of fireworks thrown into the car through an open window from the direction of a crowd celebrating the signing of peace.

Both the peace delegation which conducted the negotiations at Versailles and the armistice commission at Spa will be dissolved.

Warring on Fare Boost

While motion picture men were not cheerful over wondering if the average Lowell woman would pay 20 cents to ride to and from the celluloid drama. Like all trying experiences, however, the present time fare situation has some silver under its dark clouds and it is this: The state appointed trustees of the Bay State, so far as Lowell and the 11 other trolley districts are concerned, have put the question of what the fare charged is to be, directly up to the local manager who in the case of Lowell is, of course, Thomas Lees. The hope of Lowell people for trolley fare at a cheaper price than a dime, must abide with what they believe Mr. Lees and his 30 years' active experience as a trolley railroad manager can accomplish in economy so as to make a fare reduction possible. The riding today has not assured well for this to take place, to tell the truth, but the situation may change.

Many Lowell people believe that metal tokens they have on hand must be taken to the road cashier to be redeemed. This is not necessary, Mr. Lees stated today. A person can board a car and after tendering the conductor three pennies and dropping his tokens in the fare box, will be in good standing. It is expected all the tokens will have been thus used up by the end of the week.

City Zones Affected

This three cent increase on the price of a ride affects city zones only. Thus the fare to Fyngsboro is but three cents more than was the case last week and the fare to Lakeview is but three cents more. This holds true of all outlying points. Previously the steam fare to Boston was only about 15 cents more than by trolley. Now it will be only a dime more than by trolley which is of course a serious comparison so far as the Bay State through traffic is concerned.

Asked today to state what he considered was the most interesting thing in his opinion connected with the new order of trolley affairs here, Mr. Lees said:

"I think the most interesting thing is that it is put squarely up to me by the trustees of this road to make good as its local head of authority, or to fail. I have been a railroad man 30 years but there has never been a time when such complete authority and responsibility was placed in my hands as at executive. As is the case starting at midnight last night. And of course what is true in my case is true for every other man in a similar position to mine, on the Bay State system.

Mr. Lees' Assistant

"So far as Lowell is concerned we are to have a department of track maintenance, a department of overhead power maintenance, a department of powerhouse and power maintenance and a department of accounting, one of public relations and one of operation. Capable and responsible men, it may be understood, are to be in charge of each of these departments with the exception that I function intimately and close with the department of operation and public relations. Mr. V. B. Leavitt, of course, continues as assistant to the general manager.

"Hitherto Boston headquarters has had charge of our track and wire repairing and our accounts were subordinate to the headquarters of the auditing department at Boston. Under the change of affairs as now in force, we are responsible for our own auditing of all matters pertaining to receipts and disbursements and therefore sometime in August, for instance, our chief accountant here will, of course, be able to tell us if we are responsible for a profit or a deficit."

On January 8, this year, the metal token system of collecting fares went into operation, a system under which by paying for five fare tokens at one time the patron secured his riding at 7 cents per ride but if paying a single fare, he was charged a dime. The present increase, therefore, amounts to three cents per individual fare. Mr. Lees was asked today if data was available which would show what, in the case of the street railways in Lowell, the deficit had been each month during the time from Jan. 8 up to the present time, and he said that it was available only through the chief auditor's office at Boston, as all local data on that matter has been sent to Boston.

Poor Financial Condition

There was some discussion several months ago to the effect that possibly the chance of the Bay State showing a profit was influenced by the fact, as it was set forth, that thefts of fares by dishonest carmen had occurred extensively. The increase of fare, installation of the metal tokens and the new brooke register, it was hoped, might bring encouraging results, but the latter have not been forthcoming and the road is in as bad financial condition as it ever has been, at the present time.

In the story of the three cent fare increase on the Bay State sent from Boston today by the Associated Press, it was stated, that besides helping the road from the increased passenger revenue, the trustees expected certain consolidations of departments, centralizing of authority by districts and weeding out superfluous clerical and other help, would help the road's financial problem.

This latter phase of course interests Lowell people employed by the Bay State and it was stated from Boston today that, as regards there being some possible resignations being asked for from Lowell employees of the company, Lowell in this respect would probably have to experience what all the districts must experience.

The petition of Joseph P. Wood, that the sewer in South street be extended, was referred to Commissioner Murphy.

Loan Orders for $200,000

Commissioner Murphy introduced an order to borrow $100,000 for block paving, another to borrow $75,000 for macadam paving and a third to borrow $25,000 for sewers. Mayor Thompson said that it would be out of the question to borrow any such amount at the present date because the city will be only $139,000 from the debt limit on July 2 (tomorrow). In September it will be only $163,000 from the limit and this does not take into consideration what inroads may be made in the interim.

Commissioner Morse asked Commissioner Murphy how much money he had already received this year for paving. Mr. Murphy replied that he had been appropriated $10,000 for block paving and $16,000 for macadam. He stated that it would be impossible for him to map out any program of work for the rest of the year unless he knew how much money he was to have to work with. That was his object in submitting the orders. However, if the city was as close to the debt limit as the mayor had stated he would be willing to have the matters laid on the table for the present. He made a motion to that effect and it was carried.

Tickets for Ball Game

Mayor Thompson asked the approval of the council of a plan to provide Lowell veterans of the world war with free tickets for the New England league baseball game to be held at Spaulding park on the afternoon of July 4. He said that President Donnelly of the league had agreed to have the Lowell-Fitchburg game transferred from the latter city to Lowell and that the city would be obliged to pay only for those tickets actually used by the soldiers and sailors. If they were given out but not used the city would not have to pay. Commissioner Murphy moved that the matter be laid in the hands of the mayor and it was so voted.

Commissioner Murphy reported favorably on the petition of Arthur B. Chadwick for a sewer in Fairgrove avenue, Burnside street and Shawmut avenue and the accompanying order providing for the expenditure of $5915 was passed.

Commissioner Murphy also reported favorably on the petition of A. J. Harris for a sidewalk at 32 Georgia avenue and the accompanying order was sent to the city clerk's office for 10 days.

Wants Compensation

Hon. James E. O'Donnell appeared before the council in behalf of Edward Dean, an employee of the health department who asked that he be given the difference in his wages paid by that department and his military compensation for the six or eight months that he served in the army. Mr. O'Donnell explained that Mr. Dean went to work for the department as a teamster on Dec. 4, 1917, and continued to work until June, 1918, when he was called to the service. He received $19 a week and his military pay was $30 a month. The money alleged to be owed to him by the city amounts to between $215 and $250. Mr. O'Donnell said. He asked that his client be paid in the same way other city employees who entered the service had been paid.

Mayor Thompson said that one big reason why Mr. Dean had been employed by the department was because he had a team of horses for the use of which he received extra compensation. When he left the department to go into the service these horses were bought by the health department and a fair price paid to Mr. Dean. The latter was not employed under a civil service rating, the mayor said.

Mr. O'Donnell contended that the legislative act accepted by the city did not specify what sort of an employee of the city should receive compensation. It merely said "employees." The matter of five team of horses had no bearing on the matter, he said. It was finally agreed to have Mr. O'Donnell submit a formal claim to the council to be investigated by the law department.

Commissioner Murphy moved that the order to borrow $75,000 for macadam be taken from the table and it was so voted, the mayor being opposed. Commissioner Murphy urged the passage of the order and said that he could spend $75,000 in a good business-like way in four months. Commissioner Marchand suggested that the amount be cut to $35,000 and Mr. Morse wanted to make it $40,000. Mayor Thompson suggested that before any action be taken, Commissioner Murphy submit a report to the council showing what streets he intended to macadamize and how many had already been macadamized this year. He said that if $75,000 were borrowed now the Morey school project would have to be abandoned for this year. It was finally voted to delay action a week with the understanding that Mr. Murphy should bring in a schedule of the work he intends to do.

To Reduce Gasoline Costs

Mayor Thompson read a communication from a special committee of the city council of Jacksonville, Fla., asking that the council adopt a resolution requesting its representatives in congress to make efforts to have the price of gasoline investigated. The Jacksonville council has passed such a resolution, the communication said, and it wished the co-operation of other municipal governments. It pointed out that there was no need for a continued high scale of prices for gasoline as it was no longer a war necessity. The fact that several of the large companies dealing in this commodity had reduced the price for a short period was also brought out as proof that the price could be reduced.

Commissioner Murphy moved that the resolution be passed and it was so voted.

Commissioner Donnelly reported that he had not received wage increase estimates from all the departments in time to prepare a supplementary budget to be presented at today's meeting, but he hoped to have the budget ready for the next meeting.

It was explained that the delay would not affect the pay of those who were benefited by the increase as could be made retroactive to the 1st of July.

CRITICAL COMMENT ON
WILSON'S SOJOURN

ROME, July 1.—Critical comment on President Wilson's sojourn in Europe is made today by the Tribuna in discussing his return to the United States. "Seven months ago an immense halo of popularity surrounded President Wilson," the Tribuna editorial says. "Europe awaited him as the Messiah in a new era of history, while now he leaves amidst almost general indifference, appearing as an intruder in our continental history, our European civilization and our sacred ideals."

"It has been a psychological drama, as President Wilson believes, perhaps sincerely, that he incarnated not only the aspirations of America but also the aspirations of Europe. Instead of this pure intention, he failed of his aim. He returns to America, leaving behind him a chaos of disorder, passions and disillusion since he could not concede peace according to his principles, but made a compromise brought about by the overbearing attitude of the strong toward the weak."

ALLEGED MURDERER
IN POLICE COURT

Elmer V. Maki, who is being held without bail on the charge of murdering Martin Gallagher, was called on for continuance before Judge Fisher in police court today. A further continuance was requested by Maki's counsel, Edward J. Tierney, and it was agreed to let the case go over until July 8. Maki has pleaded not guilty on the charge.

The murder took place on the night of June 15, when it is alleged by the police that Maki and Gallagher, who are both said to have been drinking a mixture of Jamaica ginger and tonic, got into an argument which resulted in Maki stabbing Gallagher several times with a knife, and causing his death. The alleged stabbing occurred about midnight on the Lakeview avenue ball grounds.

CHICAGO, July 1.—Alderman Michael Kenna ("Pinky Dink") closed his famous workman's exchange half an hour before midnight last night because his supply of beer became exhausted.

The place opened today as a soft drink emporium.

During its existence of nearly a quarter of a century the exchange sold approximately 175,000 barrels of beer. Any "workman" without funds could get a drink there free between 5 and 6 o'clock in the morning.

Continue to Brew Beer

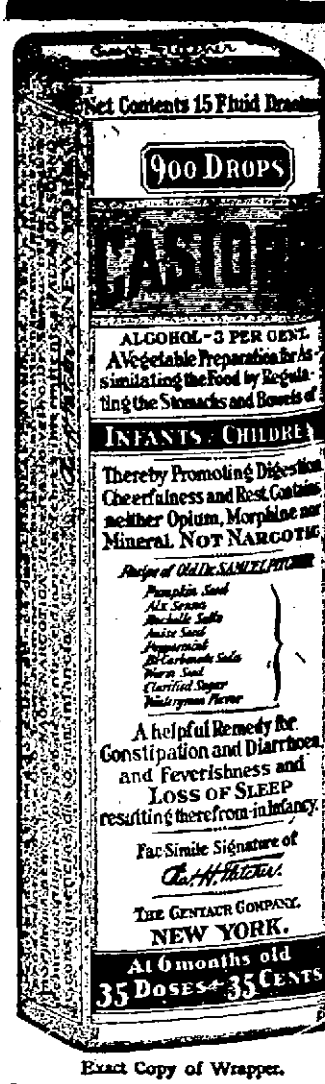

ST. LOUIS, July 1.—Thirteen local breweries today continued to brew 2½ per cent beer and the majority of saloons opened as usual but sold only beer and soft drinks.

ing 2½ per cent of alcohol is intoxicating, no action would be taken toward stopping the sale of beer containing no more than that amount of alcohol.

Thus, pending court decisions or action by congress defining intoxicating beverages, sale of the lighter drinks will be permitted in states in which there are no regulatory laws, until Jan. 15, when constitutional prohibition becomes effective. Other than this, the only ray of comfort left the anti-prohibitionists is the coming of time when President Wilson will declare demobilization of the army complete which automatically would suspend operation of the wartime prohibition until Jan. 15.

The attorney general's statement said: "After today it will be unlawful to sell for beverage purposes any distilled spirit and any beer, wine or other intoxicating malt or vinous liquor, except for export. The prohibition will continue under the terms of the law until the conclusion of the present war and thereafter, until the termination of demobilization." As long as the law thus remains in force, it must be obeyed, and I intend that the department of justice shall do its utmost to perform the duty which the congress has placed upon it.

Law Held Constitutional

"This law has been held to be constitutional and valid by the circuit court of appeals sitting in New York. It plainly makes unlawful the sale of whiskey, brandy and other distilled spirits and wine."

"The only controversy that has arisen is whether the sale of beer containing so little alcohol as not to be in fact intoxicating, is prohibited. The government's contention has been that the act prohibits the manufacture and sale of beer containing as much as 2½ of 1 per cent. of alcohol, but the interpretation of the act is not free from difficulty and I am endeavoring to have the question settled by the courts at the earliest possible moment.

"My course with respect to beer containing less than 2½ percent of alcohol—which it is claimed is not intoxicating—will depend upon the ruling which will soon be made by the district courts in which cases are now pending or in which other cases may be brought.

No Power to Grant Amnesty

"I have no power to grant amnesty to any who may see fit to manufacture or sell beer pending an authoritative judicial construction of the law, and I am sure that brewers and dealers generally understand that the pendency of litigation will be no protection against prosecution for offenses under the law."

"But with respect to whiskey, brandy and other distilled spirits, wine and beer containing more than 2½ percent of alcohol, and other intoxicating malt or vinous liquors the prohibition is beyond controversy and but one course is open to the department of justice. All persons found selling such liquors must be arrested and prosecuted. The district attorneys will cause warrants to be issued for all offenders as to whom evidence is furnished by the bureau of investigation, the agents of the internal revenue bureau of the treasury department, local officers or others, and the marshals and their deputies will promptly serve such warrants."

Duty to Make Arrests

"With the co-operation of local authorities it is believed that the law can be made effective. For this reason I call attention to the fact that it is the duty of local arresting officers to make arrests for offenses committed in their presence whether the offense be against the laws of the state or the laws of the United States."

"I confidently expect the hearty co-operation of local municipal authorities and earnestly request that all police officers arrest all persons found in violation of the war prohibition act, and to take such persons before a United States commissioner, when the district attorney will cause warrants to issue. Local officers should also report to the United States attorney evidence of offenses not committed in their presence."

for the 2½ per cent business as soon as the state licenses are received. They have agreed not to handle the varieties classed as "near beer."

Temperance drinks were sold over several hotel bars today and soda fountain apparatus was installed in some of them.

The announcement that the department of justice would not attempt to stop the sale of the 2½ per cent beer until the federal district court of New York ruled on the question of its intoxicating powers, resulted in the call for a formal meeting of the liquor dealers later in the day.

FOUND BEER IN WESTFORD

Six hundred bottles of beer were seized in a raid on the Brick tavern in Westford Sunday afternoon as the result of a little piece of detective work turned in by one of the members of Lowell's finest, Policeman Mahan.

The officer has been detailed for Sunday duty in Westford and the surrounding towns for the past weeks, and after hearing of his investigations a search warrant was issued and he, in company with other officers of that district, raided the tavern Sunday and claim to have found evidence of illegal keeping and sales. The proprietor of the inn, Matthew Downs, will be charged with illegal sale, it is said.

ENFORCING DRY LAW

No difficulty in the enforcement of the "dry" law in Lowell is expected by the police, Superintendent Welch stated today, but he is prepared for any possible contingency which may arise. The chief believes that the licensed liquor men will aid the police to the best of their ability in observing the law, and the trouble, if there is any, will come from the "kitchen barroom" fraternity, in his opinion.

Money deposited on or before July 5th, 1919, in The Lowell Five Cent Savings Bank begins to draw interest from that date.

SODA FOUNTAINS INSTALLED IN SEVERAL BOSTON HOTELS—LIQUOR DEALERS MEET

BOSTON, July 1.—A provision of the license law will prevent liquor dealers here from attempting the sale of 2½ per cent beer before next Saturday. Special liquor licenses authorized by the legislature to provide for wartime prohibition expired last night and the renewals sought last week require ten days' advertising. Many dealers and hotel managers have announced their intention of re-opening for the 2½ per cent business as soon as the state licenses are received. They have agreed not to handle the varieties classed as "near beer."

TEMPERANCE DRINKS WERE SOLD OVER SEVERAL HOTEL BARS TODAY AND SODA FOUNTAIN APPARATUS WAS INSTALLED IN SOME OF THEM.

THE ANNOUNCEMENT THAT THE DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE WOULD NOT ATTEMPT TO STOP THE SALE OF THE 2½ PER CENT BEER UNTIL THE FEDERAL DISTRICT COURT OF NEW YORK RULED ON THE QUESTION OF ITS INTOXICATING POWERS, RESULTED IN THE CALL FOR A FORMAL MEETING OF THE LIQUOR DEALERS LATER IN THE DAY.

SIX HUNDRED BOTTLES OF BEER WERE SEIZED IN A RAID ON THE BRICK TAVERN IN WESTFORD SUNDAY AFTERNOON AS THE RESULT OF A LITTLE PIECE OF DETECTIVE WORK TURNED IN BY ONE OF THE MEMBERS OF LOWELL'S FINEST, POLICEMAN MAHAN.

THE OFFICER HAS BEEN DETAILED FOR SUNDAY DUTY IN WESTFORD AND THE SURROUNDING TOWNS FOR THE PAST WEEKS, AND AFTER HEARING OF HIS INVESTIGATIONS A SEARCH WARRANT WAS ISSUED AND HE, IN COMPANY WITH OTHER OFFICERS OF THAT DISTRICT, RAIDED THE TAVERN SUNDAY AND CLAIM TO HAVE FOUND EVIDENCE OF ILLEGAL KEEPING AND SALES. THE PROPRIETOR OF THE INN, MATTHEW DOWNS, WILL BE CHARGED WITH ILLEGAL SALE, IT IS SAID.

NO DIFFICULTY IN THE ENFORCEMENT OF THE "DRY" LAW IN LOWELL IS EXPECTED BY THE POLICE, SUPERINTENDENT WELCH STATED TODAY, BUT HE IS PREPARED FOR ANY POSSIBLE CONTINGENCY WHICH MAY ARISE. THE CHIEF BELIEVES THAT THE LICENSED LIQUOR MEN WILL AID THE POLICE TO THE BEST OF THEIR ABILITY IN OBSERVING THE LAW, AND THE TROUBLE, IF THERE IS ANY, WILL COME FROM THE "KITCHEN BARROOM" FRATERNITY, IN HIS OPINION.

MONEY DEPOSITED ON OR BEFORE JULY 5TH, 1919, IN THE LOWELL FIVE CENT SAVINGS BANK BEGINS TO DRAW INTEREST FROM THAT DATE.

TEWKSBURY NEWS

Pushing New Town Hall Work—Personal Items

Work on the erection of the new town hall in Tewksbury Centre is being rushed along by the contractors, Nicholson & Sons of Boston. A large gang of men is now at work on the digging for the foundations and it is expected that within a short time masons will be on the job. Workmen are also busy digging four dry wells on the site, a short distance from the proposed building, while others are kept working on the unloading of cement and lumber cars.

The contract for the new Congregational church building has not yet been awarded and according to present outlooks it may not be for several months. The church was burned down some months ago and shortly after the parishioners started holding services in Pickering hall. A special building committee was appointed and a campaign for the raising of funds was started. Plans for the new building were drafted and bids were called for. It seems that the committee has found that the fund is not large enough to build at present and at a recent meeting it was voted to postpone the granting of the contract until next January at the annual meeting. Pending the erection of the new church services will be held in Pickering hall, which is in the high school building.

Successful Event

The benefit whist and lawn party conducted recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Clancy in Lee street, preparatory to the annual field day, was a most successful event. The attendance was large, the receipts were very substantial and the program was most enjoyable. Japanese lanterns served to illuminate the lawn, where general dancing was held on a temporary platform, music being furnished by O'Reilly's orchestra of Lowell. While the dancing was going on whist was played and later a varied enjoyable musical program was given.

Pleasant Outing

About 50 residents of the North village enjoyed a trip to Revere beach Saturday, the affair being conducted by Mrs. J. Tully. The ride to the seashore was in a large automobile truck and that proved to be one of the features of the day's program, which included games, sporting events, sight-seeing and dinner.

Personal Items

John Gale, florist, is building a large public garage on the Lynch land.

Mr. J. Mahoney, who recently purchased the Cole farm, is making extensive repairs to the building.

Henry Mason, Jr. and Miss Harriett were among those who attended the recent graduation exercises at the Harvard high school in Harvard.

Mr. Frank Riley, who has purchased the ell to the Foster property and removed it to another lot, is now converting it into a dwelling.

Mr. W. Cole is moving from Pleasant street to the Fenton farm on the Whipple road.

Evans—Cameron

The marriage of Miss Frances Cameron, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Cameron, of North Tewksbury, and Mr. Albert Hayes Evans, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Albert Evans, of Lowell, took place in the quaint little Baptist church in North Tewksbury Saturday evening. The guests numbered about 250, and among them were relatives and friends, not only from Lowell and the neighboring towns and states, but also from Detroit, Texas, Philadelphia and Tacoma, Wash. The bride was attired in an extremely simple, but lovely dress of satin with brocade bodice. She wore a veil of tulle caught with lilies of the valley, and carried a shower bouquet of sweet peas and lilies of the valley. She had in attendance her sister, Miss Rebecca Cameron, as maid of honor, who was dressed in a gown of pink and yellow changeable taffeta, and carried a bouquet of Orphelia roses. The bridesmaids were Miss Jean Cameron, sister of the bride, Miss Helen McGregor, of New York, Miss Ruth Fuller of Newton, and Miss Catherine Waterbury, of Detroit. They were dressed in the pastel shades of organdie—pink, green, yellow and orchid, and carried bouquets of pink and lavender, sweet peas. Little Miss Mildred Cameron, niece of the bride, was flower girl, and was dressed in blue organdie, carrying a basket of flowers of various hues. Mr. Harold Putnam was best man, and the ushers were Mr. Harold McKnight, Mr. Harold Bartlett, Mr. George Cameron and Mr. Malcolm Cameron. Immediately following the ceremony was a reception held at the home of the bride. The parents of the bride and groom, received with them, the bride's mother wearing a gown of grey net over grey satin and the mother of the groom wearing a sequin overdress over a slip of pale grey. One of the attractions of the wedding was the beautiful floral display in both church and home, carnations of all shades, hydrangeas, spirea and ferns formed parts of the harmonious whole. Among the many beautiful gifts there was furniture of all kinds, china, cut glass, and exquisite silver, also linens—and those most acceptable gifts—gold pieces and checks. This most charming wedding had the enthusiasm and interest of the friends of both the bride

SPOTLIGHTS ON THE ROAD TO SCHOOL DRESS REFORM AND OTHER THINGS

It's a funny thing—the connection between school girl uniform and car-hops, lip sticks, and the rouge pot. Or rather than connection, one should rightly say antipathy.

The point of the observation being that, in most cases where the experiment of winning over high school girls to the uniform idea has succeeded, the rouge, lip stick, protruding hair-dress, and kindred ensnarements such as eye-brow and lash sticks, have vanished with the incoming of the new favorites. Verily, the mysteriously folding tents of the Arabs had nothing on the aforementioned.

Take one large city high school, which will be let pass unnamed, over which presides a well-beloved, understanding and understandable principal. When the idea which had nagged and haunted for weeks finally won, and he decided to attempt what many women had failed to accomplish—reform high school girls' dress—he put the question up to the assembled girls for a vote. Ninety per cent. voted to wear uniforms in school. How much his personality and the girls' established reliance in his judgment had to do with the vote aside from their own good sense and balance, must remain a mystery.

At any rate, the same girls who a few months ago appeared morning after morning for school duties in transparent georgette waists, "made-up" complexions, and intricate ear-puffs, now present true, girlish complexions, smoothly combed hair conforming to the shape of the head—and blue gingham one-piece dresses, made after the fashion of the good old "Peter Toms." Only in this case, no make-believe sailor's insignia adorns the arm—an official school chevron takes its place, the initials of the school above stripes in the correct number to show the school year.

These for every day. When some "dress" occasion comes, no more do they fret about "I wonder what Sadie will wear. Wish I had a new silk like Marion's—I'm just sure she'll wear it.

"I'll feel so shabby." Regulation frocks of exactly the same style, but of white poplin instead of blue gingham, are the order of that day.

"But the monotony!" Was the wail of some of the mothers when the idea first grew. No such thing—poor individuality is the girl who has not an idea of collar and cuffs, and color of tie, to wear. And ample latitude is given in that direction, both with the blue gingham and the white poplin. Perhaps still laundered white Peter Pan collar with deep flare cuffs, made distinctive with a lustrous black silk tie, set apart one girl; while another may have added a pearl or dull silver belt buckle. And wavy, but neatly held back hair, or smoothly combed thick, straight hair, closely following the line of the head, may make the appearance of two other girls as widely different as the seas, but equally attractive.

More—the dresses are economical. Still more—they are so simple of execution that the girls are inspired to learn how to make their own.

MAN SHOT AS BOSTON BURIES DEMON RUM

BOSTON, July 1.—In a reluctant demise at a weird midnight hour expired John Barleycorn—and his devotees in hilarious agony made the gray dawn resound with the obsequies.

Such a night of hilarious abandon the city has never seen. Adding in its boisterous festivities to the last were the hotels and cafes; but its chief exuberance was furnished by amber and ruddy fruits flowing in a tidal wave across bars which somehow or other managed to stand the strain upon their stocks.

The rush of liquor purchasers had the wholesale places for their chief objectives during the early hours of the final day in John Barleycorn's era of sway. Thousands of dollars went into investments against the preliminary days of the thirsty spell. The suburban street cars and the suburban-bound trains had more bundle-carrying passengers than ever in their history. These bundles safely stowed away for future use, the street cars and the steam trains took an in-bound burden. The mobilized in the section where the white lights have always been wont to burn, great concourses which set their efforts into frantic struggles to get within ear shot of white-garbed men who were working furiously before still glittering mirrors.

Those who by early arrival upon the scene of revel-making had obtained vantage points against polished rails clung to them tenaciously—clinging until the swirl of the struggle being waged all about them tore them from their places as the flow of beverages down their throats willed their powers of resistance.

The sidewalks about the entrances to almost every saloon held pressing crowds clamoring for a place where their demands might be served. The spaces fronting Boston's bars were never designed for such a rush as came last night.

Swarming the streets in the sections where barrooms were most thickly clustered were yelling crowds. Their voices lifted in song and in ribald calls which at the approach to midnight rose to an incessant din.

The closing of the saloons and then the closing of the hotels and cafes precipitated something more than boisterousness. It demonstrated how thoroughly those who had made the rounds had carried out their purposes of fortifying themselves against the immediate perils of their thirsty era.

The streets began to surge with riotous scenes. Bands of young men, most of them hardly able to keep on their feet, wandered at random defying the efforts of the police to check their inclinations to mischief.

Sidewalk brawls were frequent. In his efforts to subside one of these, Patrolman Thomas Ryan of the Lagrange street station found it necessary to use

LYLOYD GEORGE TAKES UP REVOLT OF TORIES

LONDON, Monday, June 30.—One of the urgent matters with which Premier Lloyd George has to deal, now that he has returned to England, is the revolt of some 200 tory members of the coalition against what they suspect to be the government's intentions in the field of nationalizing industries. They fear that nationalization of the coal industry will be followed by the adoption of similar measures with railroads and other concerns and are especially agitating the transport bill, which gives Sir Eric Geddes, minister without portfolio, extensive powers over transport of all kinds, including the port of London.

These dissenting members of the house of commons held a meeting, today to lay their views before Andrew Bonar Law, government leader of the house who in reply gave an opinion that the question of nationalization was not involved in the transport bill.

AMUSEMENT NOTES THE STRAND THEATRE

Two very enjoyable photo-plays are being given at the Strand theatre, the last three days of the week. They are "Playthings of Passion," which features Kliffy Gordon in the stellar role, and "The Lion's Den," with Lyle in the leading part. In addition there is also a clever comedy of the Bill Parsons variety, current events by the Weekly and very pleasing vocal selections by Miss Harriet Moran, a popular local singer.

"The Lion's Den" deals with a young clergyman who endeavors to provide a shrine equipped with all the things a clean-living boy desires, and thus keep the younger members of his congregation from spending their time idly in the pool rooms and on the streets. His efforts to fire the wealthier members of his congregation with his ideals and enthusiasm are futile, so in order to show them that he can accomplish what they refuse to do he enters the "lion's den of commerce" and meets with cruel opposition. He compares with the only grocer in the town and with the assistance of the younger element makes his business a success. In the course of his efforts he is attracted to a young woman in love with the daughter of his competitor and wins her hand. The play is very enjoyable.

"Playthings of Passion" unfolds the story of the pretty young wife of a successful business man, who is given to a fondness for beautiful clothes and who is very indifferent to her husband. She is courted at afternoon bridge parties and evening dances, but her husband objects to all those frivolities. A young clergyman, worker in the slums, comes to ask the husband for financial support in his scheme for uplift. He promises to give every help possible if the clergyman in turn will try to make a responsible woman of his wife. After some time the young woman, who is wrongfully accused of infidelity by her husband, who loves the young clergyman, and what follows is very interesting.

Women in Factories

WHEN the roar of the machinery gets on your nerves—
WHEN you feel that you must ease up in your work, or give up altogether—
SAY to yourself, "I have Anemia. My blood needs food. I will take RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women. They will feed my blood, overcome Anemia, and I will be well and strong again!"
AND THIS IS TRUE. Practically every woman suffers at some time with Anemia. It may be when young; it may come at "the change of life"; it may not be felt until old age approaches.
BUT sooner or later, she will become Anemic. She will suffer with Headaches and Dizziness; with Palpitation and spells of Indigestion with Nervousness and Backache. There will come days when she will feel "all dragged out", and nights when she cannot sleep. She will grow pale and thin. Then she has Anemia.
THEN she needs RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women.
RED PILLS re-build the nerves, the strength, the vitality, because they re-build the blood. RED PILLS are a blood food, just as beef and bread and milk are body foods. RED PILLS conquer Anemia because they give you pure, rich blood to nourish mind and body.
IF you are not feeling well, and especially if you are pale, thin, tired, nervous—take RED PILLS and get back all your usual vigor, vitality and strength.
MRS. JOSEPH LEVESQUE, 37 Bassett, Fall River, Mass., says: "I was working at the factory all day, and part of the night I was kept busy at the house, for I was the mother of five children, for whom I had to provide.
My health and my strength could not stand such a strain. I became very weak, in fact so weak that I had to remain in bed part of the day; so weak that I was coughing without having any lung trouble. I was three months confined to the house without being able to take up my duties at the factory, as I was under the care of different physicians, when one day, seeing advertisements of the RED PILLS in the newspaper, I started to take them. They helped me quickly and in the right way; brought back my strength, and rid me of my pains. They toned me up and restored my perfect health, and I am thankful for the good they have done me."

CAUTION:—The formula of RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women was first discovered in Paris, in the year of 1870, by a famous French specialist.
They have been largely used in France by French women ever since. American women are now using them with gratifying results for the treatment of Anemia and general debility.

BURY JOHN BARLEYCORN PEACE CELEBRATIONS CONTINUE IN PARIS

Bryan, Riding a Camel, Will Lead Funeral at Columbus, Ohio, Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio, July 1.—Wm. Jennings Bryan will be the chief figure in a celebration of the funeral of John Barleycorn at the Methodist Centenary exposition here today. The funeral procession will be headed by the former secretary of state riding a camel, "the first and original prohibitionist," as Dr. Alonzo Wilson, director of special events at the exposition, once termed the animal. Dr. Wilson's remark is said to have been responsible for the camel being the prohibition party's emblem. An elephant and donkey, representing the old line parties, also will take part in the parade, which will conduct John Barleycorn to his last resting place.

PARIS, Monday, June 30.—Official and popular rejoicings over the conclusion of peace continued tonight, with civilians and soldiers dancing in the streets and a gala reception at the city hall, which was attended by President and Madame Poincare, a number of French generals, public men and allied ambassadors.

The city hall was brilliantly illuminated, as is customary on July 14th, Bastille day, and the square in front of it was black with people long before the president arrived. After the reception four torchlight parades, led by republican guards and bands started from the city hall, followed by immense crowds. Small musical organizations which were pressed into service furnished music for impromptu outdoor balls in different quarters of the city, which were largely attended by American soldiers.

Baron Goto, formerly minister of foreign affairs of Japan, arrived here this evening.

DUTCH TAX KAISER $4800 FOR 3 MONTHS

AMERONGEN, Saturday, July 1. (By the Associated Press).—The former German emperor for the first time in his life has paid taxes, the municipality of Amerongen having levied the ordinary taxation after examining and estimating William Hohenzollern's fortune.

For the first three months of this year the sum levied amounts to 12,000 guilders. (A guilder normally amounts to about 10 cents). This sum, however, was for local taxation. An income tax will be levied separately by the government.

The former emperor was relieved from payment for the first period of his sojourn, as that fell within the previous year. All foreigners, who remain three months in the country are liable for the payment of taxes, the same as natives of Holland.

LOWELL PEOPLE CLAIM NEW REMEDY, WELDONA, SIMPLY WONDERFUL

Local Residents Interviewed Say Aches and Pains of Rheumatism Soon Leave After Taking Simple Remedy

Weldon, a new remedy for rheumatism composed of herbs, roots and other medicinal ingredients, has become very popular with Lowell people during the past few months, and it is the same in every city where this preparation has been introduced. Many Lowell residents were interviewed in regard to results in long standing cases of rheumatism and the following gave permission to use their names:

Mrs. Taylor finds Relief From Rheumatism.

W. W. Turner of 49 Royal St., Lowell, is enthusiastic about Weldon and says: "I suffered from rheumatism, sciatica, for about twenty-five years. The pain was in my hip and ran down to my ankle. At times it was very hard for me to get about and I was in constant pain. I tried all kinds of medicines and doctors, but to no avail. I was in hospital, but got no relief. My back was so bad that when I would bend down I would be unable to straighten up. My hips and knees were also very bad and I could not get up or down stairs. I read about this Weldon and had only taken this medicine about ten days when I saw it was helping me. I am now able to bend now and feel 100% better. There is no alcohol in Weldon and it didn't make me dizzy or sick as other medicines have.

Mrs. M. Warren of 598 Gorham street, Lowell, said: "I want to get to know about Weldon—it certainly helped me. My hands were swollen to almost twice their natural size, they were weak and I couldn't hold anything in them. My limbs and ankles were also very bad, so that it was almost impossible to walk. I heard about Weldon and have only taken a little more than three packages, but can now get around fine. I now go down stairs and do not worry about getting back. It's wonderful after everything else failed, how Weldon helped me.

Many others were interviewed and all gave the same story of how they were benefited after ordinary remedies failed.

Weldon is composed of herbs, roots and other medicinal ingredients which tend to drive rheumatism from the blood. Weldon does not contain alcohol, narcotics, opiates or habit-forming drugs, and tends to help the stomach and build the system up.

"QUALITY CIRCULATION"

Mr. Advertiser, when a solicitor has at some time tried to sell you service through circulating your commercial message in the paper he represents, have you asked him to demonstrate what the "quality of his circulation" is?

It is a pertinent and worth while query. In this respect you have a right to know about the kind of a circulation your ad gets when you entrust it to The Sun. What the Sun's "circulation quality" is.

Is the newspaper clean, honest, fair and reliable? A newspaper has not finished its task when it publishes an advertisement or a news article because it is expected to go still farther and give its constituency community service—service for the uplift and improvement of the community—and in this The Sun has in the past and is now, functioning 100 per cent efficient.

The reflection of this is seen in the number of copies circulated, over 20,000 average and with steady growth maintained. Quality circulation is having a paper respected and cordially received in the home. Quality circulation is worth while and you get it when you circulate your ad in

EXTRAVAGANT ESTIMATES

There seems to be a conflict of opinion relative to the request of the high school commission for authority to borrow $1,500,000 outside the debt limit to be expended in addition to the amount already available which would bring the total appropriation for land and building up to $2,200,000.

On the face of it, this seems to be an extravagant amount and the legislative committee as well as our most thoughtful citizens are justified in their expressions of amazement at the request for so large a sum for what is merely an addition to our present high school.

The most surprising thing in regard to this high school problem is, that those in charge of the business did not first call for estimates on the present plans before guessing or fixing at random the sum supposed to be necessary for the construction of the building. Had they done so, they would have secured a definite and reliable estimate as to what the complete cost of the building would be. If this were too high, then the plans should be modified so that the cost might come within what would be considered reasonable for adequately meeting the high school needs of our city.

When we speak of calling for bids we mean honest, bona fide bids either on the general contract or on the various sub-contracts combined so that the commission in charge might reach a definite conclusion as to the total cost. This, if done in a businesslike way, might be a revelation to some people who cannot get it out of their heads that the proposed addition to our high school must of necessity be an extremely elaborate and expensive structure. We do not believe that a suitable addition to the high school should cost anything like a million dollars for the building alone.

If we are properly informed, a building such as required can be constructed for a great deal less and in a manner that will meet all the requirements of the situation both as to accommodation and architectural effects. There are reputable architects in Lowell and outside of Lowell who have declared that they can design and supervise the construction of an addition to our high school fully as large as at present contemplated yet well within a million dollars for the building above ground.

There are schools going up in several cities of the state that do not cost nearly as much per cubic foot or per room of like dimension as some people think we must pay under the present plans for the high school addition.

It seems strange that no one so far as we can learn, has been able to ascertain the number of cubic feet in the proposed high school addition. The content has been estimated all the way from 2,000,000 to 3,000,000 cubic feet. Now if we take the larger estimate, which is probably excessive, and compute the average cost per cubic foot for similar schools throughout the state, even at the present high price of labor and material, we shall find that there is no just ground for setting the total expense at such a high figure as that indicated in the petition to the legislature.

Contractors who know what they are talking about, say that a high school building of this character can be built and furnished at an expense as low as from 25 to 30 cents per cubic foot. Assuming that there are 3,000,000 cubic feet in the proposed structure, the cost

THE BARTENDER

Now that it is all over or about all over, let us say something good and truthful about the bartender.

As an institution he existed in the supply of a demand.

He did not create the demand—he was pretty much like other clerks and salesmen and even though what he supplied had a negative effect upon those he served.

The bartender was always courteous. If he was not courteous he did not remain a bartender very long. He was a good fellow when those he served demanded good fellowship.

The bartender saw humanity at its best and worst. He was often bored to extinction by the talk of some that he served, and he had to use infinite tact and patience with others when they were in their cups.

Bartenders as a rule were not drunkards; they were about like other men in other lines and who found that they could not do their work and hold their jobs in a semi-intoxicated state; and the best of them, through horrible example no doubt, did not drink at all.

All those whom the bartenders served were not drunkards—in fact a very large majority of them were not. The drunkard or a down-and-out was never a desirable patron, and even though the saloon as an institution may have been responsible for his state.

Drunkards always have had a way of getting drunk in one saloon and then going into another and exhibiting themselves and their state.

A very large number of those whom the bartender served were prosperous, intelligent, some were even learned, and not infrequently men of large affairs.

The bartender came in intimate and frequent contact with these, always to a point of acquaintance, and often to actual friendship.

The preference and wages of a bartender by a saloon proprietor was frequently a matter of the bar-tender's acquaintance or the amount of trade that he could attract to a place.

The bartender has two assets that would nobly fit him for numberless lines of business.

One is his courtesy, the other is his acquaintance and his ability to make acquaintances.

In a good many of the large cities that have been dry for a year or more, ex-bartenders in better class places were actually sought by life insurance and the larger real estate agencies as salesmen, and largely by reason of their acquaintance.

Then again by reason of their acquaintance, courtesy and dexterity in handling glasses and drink mixing devices, the down-town drug stores and other places with large soda trade are finding it more profitable to employ ex-bartenders at a higher wage than persons of less experience, that the ex-bartender can handle the trade faster, with greater efficiency and satisfaction.

It is our guess that after a very short period of readjustment, the bartender will find himself in much higher service of society, and with a much larger degree of prosperity to himself than in the occupation of his enforced abandonment.

IRELAND'S DEMANDS

The Sunday demonstration at Boston in favor of the Irish republic was perhaps the greatest of the kind ever held in that city. The enthusiasm of the people was buoyed up to a high pitch, equal to that which was felt in the old Fenian days, in the days of Gladstone when home rule was enacted by the house of commons or in the days of Parnell or still later of Redmond when home rule was actually placed on the statute book and then pulled back because a few men in Ulster and one or two military generals objected to it going into effect. England would almost as willingly part with the city of London as lose Ireland; but the demonstrations now being held in support of the Irish republic must convince her of one thing, to wit, that she cannot maintain friendly relations with the United States while she refuses the rights of the Irish people to control their own destinies. But in view of recent events, it may soon dawn upon British statesmen that the best interests of the empire at home and abroad will be served by doing justice to Ireland in some form of national freedom.

Prof. Alexander Graham Bell says he has successfully conducted experiments with a refrigerating plant for homes as the result of which he was able to secure a temperature for one room in his Washington home of 65 degrees. He conducted cold air through an asbestos covered pipe from a big ice chest to the room in question. Here was a case in point where most of us will conclude an inventor really got busy on a worth while problem.

We have had June weddings, June graduations, college reunions and we're about ready for genuine rest but this week has its cares and perils too. We have to assist at the reception to a strange visitor already named Bone Dry and the Fourth of July list of accidents may have space for your name or mine.

"What is that long line of trucks with armed guards waiting on the outskirts of Toledo for?" "Why those are the conveyances into which Tex Rickard's championship fight receipts will be loaded and carted off on the evening of July 4th."

Charitably or otherwise, when people in general read that Von Bethmann-Hollweg has volunteered to take responsibility for deeds previously credited to the Kaiser, they will ejaculate, "Another German fool," and take no more account of it.

Several Lowell people have enjoyed green peas and new potatoes as early as last Sunday although the time honored date is of course on the Fourth. The backyard gardener is apt to take the prize as a producer of early garden stuff.

Today is National Buttermilk Day. Have you observed it in the spirit? Not in spirits of course, for malt and vinous spirits went on a holiday yesterday. Buttermilk is a great drink and you won't have lost out if you give your stomach this treat.

Will prindish and staid women newspaper readers frown and feel they are in the wrong place when they read that former Secretary McAdoo told President-elect Person that Uncle Sam is Miss Brazil's North American affinity?

W. J. B. is of course interested in the new turn of affairs.

DE VALERA AT STATE HOUSE

President of Irish Republic Given a Warm Greeting

Tells Legislators World Must Recognize Majority's Rights

BOSTON, July 1.—Eamon De Valera, president of the Irish republic, yesterday was received at the state house, the Cambridge city hall and at Manchester, N. H., with demonstrations which in their warmth closely approached the greeting given him at Fenway park on Sunday, when approximately 60,000 cheered him as the "Lincoln of Ireland."

His reception at the state house was unprecedented in many of its features, the flag of the Irish republic being waved and members and crowded galleries cheering. State officials who have been long in office declared that never in their memory was such an ovation given a visiting dignitary.

In his speech in the house chamber, Prof. De Valera was vigorously applauded when he said: "There is no question of Ireland's secession. If a young lady were carried into the harbor of a Turkish chief and she tried to get release, would you call it a trial for divorce?"

Shortly after the house convened, at 1 p. m., Mr. Hays of Brighton offered an order inviting the senate to be present in a body at the reception to the president of the Irish republic in the house chamber. It was immediately adopted.

The distinguished visitor entered the state house at 2.45, and upon being escorted into the chamber was greeted with a tumult of cheers. Representative Noland of East Boston waved the flag of the Irish republic, and cheers for the new republic were led by Representative Nellen of Charlestown.

Escorted by a committee headed by Representative Maloney of Chelsea, Prof. De Valera took a place on the speaker's rostrum.

Introduced by Warner

Speaker Warner, introducing the Irish leader, said:

"No state in our union can lay claim to a larger percentage of those whose forebears were nurtured in the Emerald Isle than this same old Bay State. Massachusetts is proud of her Irish sons and Irish daughters. They are stalwart and loyal Americans, and much have they done and much are they doing to promote the glory of industrial and civic Massachusetts."

"So, it is indeed a pleasure for me, on your behalf, to welcome one who, although born in these United States, has yet identified himself with a cause dear to the hearts and souls of every one who respects, loves and cherishes the green little isle overseas."

"I present to you your guest, the Hon. Eamon De Valera."

Prof. De Valera began his address by expressing regret that time had not permitted him to prepare the case for Ireland as it deserved to be prepared.

"It has been the device of the enemies of Ireland," said he, "to make it appear that this Irish case of ours is a complicated case, that there is something extraordinarily difficult and delicate about it. I say that this is not true, and I hope to convince you that

A very little woman is often at the bottom of a very big fuss.

The vegetable liar will soon be in his glory. "Yes, I had green peas."

Is the bone-dry regime another contribution to our having a Safe and sane Fourth?

"What is a team room," asked a visitor and the echo answered: "That is a place where the help commit suicide by going out and eating a square meal."

Someone ought to start a campaign against the boob in the ticket office who tells you the last train leaves at 6 o'clock when it really pulls out at 5.45.

A friend dropped out of an airship to remark that lawyers would make good soldiers, basing his remark on the fact that they are not.

Bowel Poison

Thousands of Men and Women Poisoned and Don't Know It.

HOW TO FIND OUT

Bowel poison means blood tainted by fowl secretions absorbed from the bowels. Here are the symptoms: If your skin is disfigured by eruptions, humors, pimples, blotches, sores or eczema; if you itch and burn and your skin is scaly and rough; if you feel tired and worn out, your nerves weak, constipated, cross and depressed; if your head feels heavy and aching, your eyes blurry and specks float across your vision; if you have cold feet and your hands get sweaty and sticky—if you have these danger signals they point unerringly to bowel poison, inspire blood, and show that your stomach, liver and bowels are not working right.

Dr. Grady's Tablets are what you must have to make your bowels right; they will remove the impurities from your system, stimulate the sluggish liver and bowels so that they will perform their functions naturally and regularly. They cleanse and invigorate the blood by stimulating the sluggish liver and regulating the bowels by their gentle laxative action. They are a sure and unfailing cure for bowel poison in young or old.

Dr. Grady's Tablets cure constipation, biliousness and headache in one night, 10 cents, all druggists.—Adv.

Prepared for the Future

It was at the door of a store which had advertised exceptional bargains for that day, in the Jan, that Mrs. Blank saw Mrs. Brown and rushed to shake hands with her and say: "O, Mrs. Brown, are you here?" "Yes, I am here, but I did not expect to meet you."

"Why, you see, I am going to join the new league and I am getting ready for it."

"Is it the women's league where we pledge ourselves not to buy a hat or a garment costing more than $10?"

"Yes, that is the one and I am going to join it too. I am getting ready for it."

And they entered the store together and each bought a dress marked down from $80 to $18, and $20 hats and coats that cost over $60 each. They went out feeling that they could stand by their pledge.—Jamestown Post.

By O. B. Joyful

Dog days, scientists say, start July 3 and end August 11. But on the other hand, any boy will tell you that dog days are all non-school days. Once the world used to think dog days were responsible for the extreme hot weather, and blamed the dog star (Sirius) for the heat. Astronomers have learned, however, it just happens that the dog star rises with the sun. Toward the star always did rise in the morning with the sun, and it never made it any warmer for the sun only when the pup tracked up the clean kitchen floor just after mother had scrubbed it. In times, some centuries off, the dog star would rise in midwinter, and no doubt dog days then will get the credit for the extreme cold of January.

A dog turns around several times before lying down because he had to do that in his wild animal days to be sure he wasn't making a bed on a slumbering porcupine. And, besides, one good turn deserves another.

The Merry-Go-Round

Have you ever seen tots on a merry-go-round? And some ride it merrily, very, and some were as sober as if they had found

That a merry-go-round isn't merry! Looking at life, I am willing to say that people go riding it much the same way.

Breakfast-and-dinner-and-supper-and-bed

Is the merry-go-round of the day, And some ride in the round in a spirit of dread

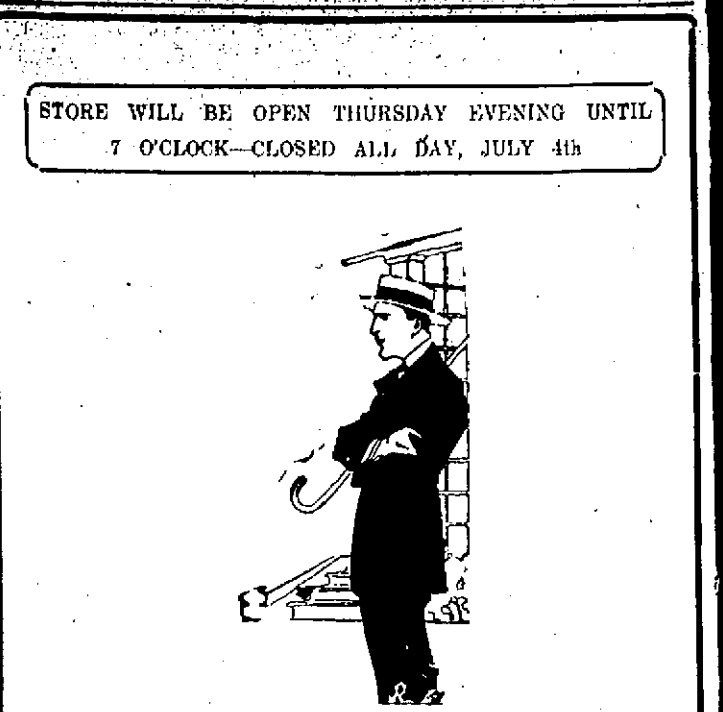

And some in a spirit of play. Some rise with a shout and go singing to rest And some say the merry-go-round is a pest.

The music grinds out of the merry-go-round. As a dance or a dirge, or a croon. For 'tis more of a feeling and less of a sound.

As the rider interprets the tune. Some say it reminds them of primitive joys And some think it merely a hideous noise.

Birth, breath and burying, so runs the wheel And some run it wobbly or well. And whether a treadmill or automobile, Or whether a gay carousel, Depends not so much on the wheel as on the rider.

As it does on the soul of the rider who rides. (Copyright, 1919, N.E.A.) —EDMUND VANCE COOKE.

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

In these days of high cost of everything there are two things to be grateful for: post cards again sell for a penny each and it now costs only two cents to send a letter, even a dun or a billet doux. The saving to business firms where it is no uncommon thing to send out a couple of hundred letters a day, is of course considerable.

I have asked a number of people if they were going to the Willard-Dumsey argument and so far I fail to get any affirmative answers. Failing in this, I asked a number of my friends if they knew any one who was going.

In answer to a reader who writes for information relative to Camp Devens, we print the following information. It was named for General Devens of Civil War fame, a noted leader on the Union side. Camp Devens is situated in the town of Ayer but to establish it, land had to be taken from about six towns, including Ayer. From Ayer railroad station to the "first gate," so called, it is about three-quarters of a mile. The cantonment itself is about eight miles from Lowell. To get at the maximum number of troops in its confines at one time it may be said that the first division trained at Camp Devens was perhaps as large as any. It was called the 75th Division, was mustered to the colors in the summer of 1917 and had between 35,000 and 40,000 men. This division started overseas in midsummer of 1918.

It is not true. The Irish case is a simple one. It is simply this—that Ireland has a right to her liberty and that Ireland demands it.

"It is not for us to prove Ireland's case for liberty and certainly it is not for me in this legislature here to prove Ireland's case for liberty. It is an axiom, and it is particularly an axiom after you have proved Ireland's case through the work of Adams and Hancock, for the world has accepted that proof. It is rather for those who deny us liberty to come along and say why it should be denied.

Refers to Easter Week

"Shall the peoples of the earth, as your president asked, be dominated even in their own affairs by powerful and irresponsible forces, or by their own will and choice? Let me remind you that 43 members out of 105 were chosen in Ireland at the elections on the direct issue of the establishment of the republic, and they were chosen for the express purpose of ratifying the republic.

"And the men of Easter week—the men who in Easter week waved the flag of the republic and attempted to drive out the English forces—selected their president and their cabinet, and I am the responsible head of that cabinet and the responsible head of the only legitimate government there is in Ireland. If England withdrew her forces there is scarcely a man, woman or child in Ireland who would not willingly embrace the republic and become obedient citizens of it.

"Why, then, are we denied the liberty we seek? Why is the will of the Irish people not recognized? Simply because it is to the interest of England, for the sake of her own selfish materialism, to keep us in subjection, to be exploited by her.

"I should be glad to have the members ask me questions on any points which are not clear to them in the Irish case; it would put me in the witness box, and I am ready for it. But the speaker tells me that as there are so many here it would take too long.

"You have all noticed the word 'secession' applied to this movement of ours to gain independence. Now that word is not justified in our case. Secession implies not a union such as England has forced upon us, but a voluntary union, and there is no comparison whatever between the action of the southern states trying to get out of your union and the action of Ireland trying to get out of the forced union with England. Study the history of that union, and you will see at once the truth of what Gladstone and other great Englishmen said of it—that it was a union procured by fraud and violence and therefore a union that was a nullity.

Never Accepted By Ireland

"The proof that it has never been accepted by the Irish people or consented to by them is seen in the fact that for the last 100 years during which it has been in operation there have been three or four attempts at armed insurrection; Emmet's was one, there was an attempt in 1848, one in 1867 and another in 1916. And the whole of the time during that century England governed Ireland by a system of oppression, by a denial of the rights of the people, and passed no fewer than 100 coercion acts. Ireland was governed by men of the type of Andros, and the oppression against which America arose has been continually in force in Ireland. I think you will all realize that it is a false application of your case to say that our movement is but a secession.

"A great deal is made of the point that Irishmen do not agree among themselves. I say in reply that there is as much substantial agreement and unity in Ireland as will be found in any nation on the earth. If we want to be careful about elections we generally specify a two-to-one majority or a three-to-one majority. America would recognize tomorrow a two-to-one or a three-to-one majority on a plebiscite, and we can have it. There is substantial unanimity in Ireland.

"It is pretended, when they talk of the Ulster question, that the province of Ulster is opposed to a republic. Yet when you speak of the Ulster question that means a small fraction of Ulster, not half of Ulster, a matter of four counties in Ireland where the opponents of a republic are in a majority. The ideal democracy contends that majorities have their rights, and that when a minority is nervous or anxious about its rights being interfered with it has the right to look for guarantees to the majority. But it has no right to impose or try to impose a permanent veto on the will of the majority.

Not a Religious Question

"It is pretended that this question is a religious question. I deny it. There is no question of religious differences dividing us in Ireland. It happens that the majority of that minority are Protestants; it happens that the majority or our majority are Catholics. But there is surely nobody going to say that they are back in the old days of religious prejudice. That would have died all over the world were it not England's special interest to keep it alive. England has quite continually, by all the artifices she could command, tried to keep it alive in Ireland, but I am happy to tell you that she has not succeeded.

"We are getting more and more to regard ourselves as brothers, with a common country to love and a common country to serve. The proclamation of the Irish republic guarantees equality of rights without consideration of property, class or religion to every citizen of the Irish nation. The men who fell at Bunker Hill died believing that the men who came after them would work for their ideals and bring them to fruition. You would not sacrifice what they did on the demand of a minority. We also feel that we are trustees for the men who preceded us, and because of that we cannot accept the term of this minority, namely, that we should become subject to a part of Ireland.

BUY YOUR SHOES FOR FALL AT ONCE BUY THEM NOW

It makes no difference to us where you trade, if you can spare the money, put in a pair of good shoes this week. Good shoes are bound to sell at from TWO DOLLARS TO FIVE DOLLARS THIS FALL MORE THAN YOU CAN BUY THEM FOR TODAY. Shoes that we used to buy for $2.60, $2.75 and $2.85 a pair cost us today $9.50 A PAIR WHOLESALE. Educator shoes for children cost us today THREE TIMES as much as they used to. We want to be fair with our customers and we want to protect them from extreme high prices, that's why we give you this advice. We know of one incident right in Lowell where a buyer took a few days to "think it over" when he was given a price on his fall order. When he went back to accept the price he found they had advanced the price about two dollars a pair. That goes to show that delays are very costly these days.

Saturday we had a customer in our store who had just paid six dollars for a pair of McKay sewed oxfords. Why, we used to sell BETTER SHOES for two dollars a pair. Read the advertisements in your local papers. Why, only a few days ago we saw white canvas oxfords advertised at seven dollars a pair. Think of it! Shoes made of cloth, low shoes at that, seven dollars a pair. Good vici kid leather today sells at $1.50 a square foot—it takes from three to four feet for the uppers of a pair of shoes—don't you think nine or ten dollars for a pair of high shoes, made of leather, is reasonable if shoes with the uppers made of cotton cloth are worth seven dollars? We are selling high grade shoes at fair prices and

RED SOX DROP BOTH ENDS OF DOUBLE-BILL

New York won both games of the double-header with the Red Sox yesterday by the scores of 7 to 1 and 4 to 2, staging an eighth inning rally in each contest to overcome a one-run lead held by the Boston team. Boston lost the first game and the second game, but despite the Red Sox' home run smash in the sixth inning with the bases full, Fenwick pitched fine ball in the second game, until the eighth inning when four hits were bunched with a base on balls for three runs.

YOUNG KLOBY GETS THE REFEREE'S AWARD

Young Kloby alias Tommy Corcoran of Lawrence was not able to knock out Harry Carlson of Brockton off his feet last night at the Fenway A.A. in Boston, but he did have by far the best of the milling and received the referee's award on points. Lawrence fans had bet heavily on a knockout, it is said, and if so they lost some of the money they took away from the Hub after the two previous matches fought there by the Y.D. battler.

There will be other races for boys and girls and an exhibition of fancy swimming by Instructor Rynne, who will attempt to duplicate the big stunt of Harry Eloinsky, the world's champion trick swimmer, and swim across the river with a 175 pound man strapped to his back.

BRAVES OUTHIT GIANTS BUT LOSE, 7-4

Houston outhit the Giants yesterday but could not make their blows count as did the visitors and as result New York won the last game of the series, 7 to 4. Poor base running threw away many chances for the Braves. Cincinnati took a double header from Chicago by the scores of 4 to 1 and 2 to 1. Bunched hits won the first game, while Chicago error caused the second defeat. Pittsburgh defeated St. Louis, 1 to 1. The Pirates announced they have secured Outfielder Nicholson from Detroit over the waiver route.

VALGER AND CARLSON MEET FOR THIRD TIME

Harry Carlson of Brockton, who meets Benny Valger of New York at the Crescent A. A. on the afternoon of July 4th, while defeated by Young Kloby at Boston last night, has the distinction of being the only man to go the distance with the Y.D. champion since his return from France. Kloby had considerable weight on Carlson, but try as he might, he failed to get over his famous K. O. wall. While overseas Kloby set up a great record in the roped arena, and upon returning home continued to pile up victories. Up until last night none of his opponents could stand the gaff, and Boyle, Parkman and Donovan, were added to his knockout list. But Carlson stood right up there last night, and according to Dan Saunders of the Boston Globe the Brockton boy showed the way to the Lawrence welterweight in the first five rounds. After that, however, Kloby used his excess weight to outpace and wore down the Brockton battler.

WERRE HOLDS LOWELL SAFE ALL THE WAY

Werre, Haverhill's southpaw pitcher, held Lowell in the hollow of his hand yesterday afternoon at Spalding park, restricting Hayden's run to four hits and winning easily, 2 to 0.

For seven innings Werre allowed no hit, a single to left by Weaver in the fourth inning, which also was one of the only two hard hit balls. Tuckey called for Clive in the eighth with two out, Werre pitched to him, and he hit Werre. Werre couldn't find first base after taking an easy loss from Kingson. Hayden then threw some more curves into the fray in an attempt to work Tuckey around, but Sullivan, hitting for Hayden and Scanlon hitting for Pierotti, both fanned. Baker scored first in the ninth when Clive batted, but he misjudged the ball and it trapped safe. Baker getting credit for two batters, Tuckey scoring. Kingson looped a single over Kingson's head and when Fenwick momentarily fumbled the ball Baker scored by the back of the net. Werre did not deliver and Lowell's first, last and only chance went glimmering.

It was the last half of the ninth inning. The winners were playing the losers on the Trilanon diamond. Versalles.

All that was at stake was the pennant of the League of Nations, and $7 million dollars.

Kid Woodie Wilson was on the mound for the winners.

Shortly Dave Lloyd George was scrambling on off back of the plate. Lefty Clemenceau was playing centre and batting .450 besides making two home runs off Brockdorf-Rantzau.

Kicker Orlando, who had just returned to the game after a bad case of spiked feelings, was playing short.

Silent Eddie House was flashing the signals from the Winner's bench.

It was one-two-three for Kon Fehrenbach.

Goose Giesberts to bat.

(Game called while him rooters and manager of the Losers go outside of the grounds and decide if they're going to put in a pinch hitter or forfeit the game.)

Nutty Noske and Doc Mueller call the umpire's attention to the fact that Pitcher Wilson of the Winners is a little out of the cannon ball, and that he's using the famous "double twist," which they insist is a half ball.

Ump gives the Losers two minutes to get back into the game.

They get.

Scheidemann now batting for Giesberts.

Woodie puts a swift one over the ear-corner of the plate.

"Strike one!"

Manager Egbert and Batby Willo protest. They insist Scheidoy was nipped on the knuckle and entitled to take his base.

Game called while the Losers go outside and talk it over.

Matt Erbsberger now batting for Scheidemann.

Woodie puts over a splitter and one Erzie misses it a mile.

"Strike two!"

Game called because Al Belgium says Toughnut Hohenzollern is throwing bricks over the left field fence. Al is moved over to right field and Johnny Bull throws a custard pie through the knothole, landing sure in Toughnut's eye.

Game resumed.

Woodie Wilson taken out of the box to go up in the grandstand and settle a light between Bill Tait and Hank Ledy.

Dave George now pitching for the winners. Bob Lansing takes Dave's place behind the bat.

Game resumed.

Nippou isn't playing third base. Umpire fads Jap over in the bullpen taking peanuts from John Chink.

Game starts again.

"Strike three and out!"

Brock Rantzau at bat.

Goose missesburg of the Losers bawls out the umpire for letting Poch play in too close. And because he won't let the Huns have more than three strikes at ball.

Umpire orders blindy to the outside.

"Strike one!"

Game called while the Losers call up Valmer to see if for letting Bernstorff should pinch hit.

Tricky is now batting for Rantzau.

"Strike two!"

Toughnut Hohenzollern crawls over left field fence and starts a fight. Gets licked again, and tossed back over the fence. Game proceeds.

"Strike three!"

"You're out!"

Game.

Let's beat it for the car an' get home in time for dinner.

The C.N.A.C. defeated the C.Y.M.L. team on the Textile campus Saturday afternoon by the score of 8 to 5. Hubert pitched for the winners and showed a lot of stuff. He fanned 15 batters and allowed but two hits. The C.N.A.C. nine will play St. Peter's A.A. on the Textile grounds next Saturday and as both teams have been showing a high grade of ball, a fine game should result.

The P.A.S.C. suffered its first reverse of the season Saturday at the hands of the Odawas. The score was 25 to 8. Murphy, winning pitcher, did not confine himself to pitching excellence, for his work at the bat helped swell his team's total. He collected a homer, a triple and two doubles.

The Marton A.C. defeated the Eagles Saturday, 17 to 3. The pitching and batting of Reardon and the hitting of Furey featured. The Martons would like to play the Union Blues July 5 at Shedd park. Answer through this paper.

The St. Peter's A.A. defeated the Abbot Worsted Co. team of Graniteville Saturday afternoon by the score of 5 to 2.

The Graniteville A.C. was defeated by the West Chelmsford team, 3 to 2. It was a fast game, both teams playing snappy ball.

10 CENT FARE IN BOSTON JULY 10

BOSTON, July 1.—Ten-cent fare on the Boston Elevated will become effective Thursday July 10.

This is an increase of two cents over the present fare and will be an increase of 100 per cent over the rate of fare of one year ago.

The trustees who took charge of the road under the public control bill passed by the legislature concluded yesterday one year of service and as the law required it of them, ordered the increase to meet the deficit and to provide service at cost.

Spindle City Folk Shed No

Good Fun Lacking Disorder
Marks Birth of Bone Dry
Regime in This City

With the eleventh stroke of the gong having registered itself clearly and unmistakably last night so that liquor buyers and liquor sellers could know the harrier had been put up against the legalized sale of it, Lowell people having an interest in the different phases of liquor, today were settling back and concluding that the question of the ban being lifted and the drought broken, is becoming one connected with numbers and the connection of numbers with demobilization.

When demobilization is over the ban may perhaps be lifted. But when will demobilization be completed? President Wilson has said the American army overseas and at home at present consists of a million men. Congress has tentatively agreed that for the present the peace time army should be maintained at about 350,000 men. Transports may be said to be arriving every day at Atlantic coast ports. Every arriving transport can give the liquor dealers courage as to the increasing nearness of the date when they can reopen their places of business. Every transport arriving means its "load" will almost immediately be demobilized and incidentally be a contribution to shortening the dry era.

While this may be the conclusion thousands of Lowell people have today reached, the fact remains that yesterday furnished the day in which the largest amount of liquor of all kinds was ever sold in this city. As was stated in The Sun yesterday, Lowell was destined to be the liquor shopping centre for a large section of southern New Hampshire and the fate of hundreds of New Hampshire autoists who came here late yesterday afternoon and made extensive purchases of liquor; interested Lowell people, however, had it that starting back after dark they were due to find all the inter-state roads watched by liquor deputies who were openly on duty with red lanterns and it was humorously enough an occasion when, "There's a red light on the track for Booze Brown," indeed.

One of the surprises of the evening—the time when the picturesqueness of the exit of J. Bagley was supposed to be at its height—was that no disorder or hilarity was to be seen in the downtown business section. Up to 11 p. m. last night the police department, although augmented in the number of men doing night duty, had found only three men carrying their liquor so badly hit it was deemed necessary to put them in duress. Only one woman was arrested for intoxication and there may be scant sympathy for her. She was registered as being 45 years old and presumably old enough to know better than to be too chummy with Barclaycorn, even if he was to go vacationing.

JACK LIKES WATERMELON!
Jack Dempsey had a birthday in Toledo, and admirers gave him a mammoth watermelon with "Happy Birthday" nearly lettered on it with a

Lowell, as is well known, has a number of clubs where liquor has been allowed to be sold and last evening was a festive one for most of these places. Along about 9 or 10 o'clock in one or two of the clubs, informal and impromptu auctions were held at which the small remaining stocks of liquor were "auctioned" off to various club members. Bargains were rare for if a member showed by his bidding he was anxious to secure a particular bottle of liquor, his fellow members took great delight in running up the price on him. It is safe to say that Lowell clubs today have only sufficient liquor on hand to be used in cases of rare emergency, such as members suffering snake bite or drowning.

The "wine stores" come under the head of the fourth class liquor licenses. They did the biggest business in their history yesterday. There is of course a question arising about this phase of the liquor business: Supposing that Bill Jones, fourth class liquor dealer, closed up his business last night at 11 and still had a stock of liquors on hand. Supposing that conditions come about so that he is permitted to sell again in two months from today, who checks up on him to find out if he has been clandestinely "distributing" during the dry spell?

To this question it may be answered that no liquor seller experienced at the business and with a good record as observing the law, wants to get himself in wrong with the federal authorities. For him to illegally peddle of his left over stock, or any part of it, would invite just such a calamity and would automatically prevent him from resuming his business when it becomes legalized again. The question may be asked as to whether the wine store man can quietly buy in more wet goods from his jobber and conceal the condition of what he had on hand when he stopped selling last night and what he has when he is allowed to resume? He cannot do this. Uncle Sam has ordered the sale of liquor stopped in all ways and the wholesaler is hit in his business just as hard as the retailer.

One of the remarkable things in connection with the stopping of the liquor traffic, as was seen last night in Lowell, was the fact that there was so little growling and fault finding over the withdrawal from sale of liquor. Confirmed users of liquor even, seemed inclined to regard it as a joke and being reminded that they had often been heard to say they could "take a drink or let it alone," they answered "I should worry," but showed no signs of doing any worrying. For which there may be reasons.

Fighters Will Enter Ring
With Bare Hands—All Taping in View of Spectators

TOLEDO, July 1.—Jess Willard and Jack Dempsey will go into the ring Friday with bare hands and all bandaging and taping will be done in view of the spectators.

This announcement was made today by Tex Rickard. The decision to request the "hookers" to bandage their hands in the ring is regarded as a victory for Willard, who protested against the taping and bandaging on his hands while in the dressing room. Willard said that he would insist upon a thin layer of cotton surgical bandages, and only enough tape to hold the bandages in place.

The boxers will wear specially made five ounce gloves and each will be allowed to have five seconds in their corners, including the manager or adviser. Airplanes to Take Pictures
Preparations are being made to report the contest on a scale exceeding anything of the kind at previous ring battles. Writers from all parts of the country and Canada are present or en route and hundreds of seats have been reserved for them. More than 50 wires will be set up at the ringside to carry reports to all parts of the country and to cable points for European service.

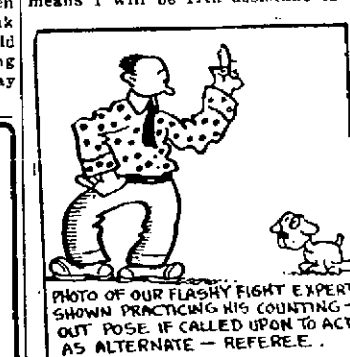

From low-flying airplanes, photographers will take pictures of the fighters in action and the scenes in and around the arena. Immediately the contest is finished several of these planes plan non-stop flights to Chicago and New York in order that the photographs may be available for reproduction in Saturday papers. The most ambitious one is a scheme to fly with pictures to the Pacific coast in two relays.

Four movie men will occupy a platform erected atop a high steel tubular column from which they can film the ring and every portion of the stadium.

EXPERT PICKED AS ALTERNATE REFEREE

(Special to The Sun)
This is the sixth of a series of articles on the champion-challenger fray, written by the peerless author of "How the Eskimo Firemen Fight Fires With Steam-Heated Icebergs."—Editor's note.

TOLEDO, O., July 1.—Well, as far as the fight is concerned, everything is all settled now, except as to whom will win, and the question of tearing down the arena when it's all over. Two men picked as 12th alternate referee! That means I will be 11th assistant to the chief mitt arbitrator. In case something should happen to the boss referee in the first round, such as accidentally steering his dial in the direction of one or both fighters' waists, and ditto for the other alternate referees down to the 11th round, then it will be my turn. My first duty will be to caution the fighters to try and hit one another for a change, as much as possible, on account of it being the last round, and as the patrons are waiting for my decision to see who wins. A lot of weight may fall on my shoulders in that round. Should both men land on one another for a K. O., I will have to count up to 20, and the championship title will be in my care. In that event I will confer it upon Sergt. York! Gene Ahern.

The Call-'em

Seldom has Lowell had the opportunity to anticipate such a varied program of sports as is scheduled for the coming of the Fourth. Baseball, swimming, boxing and horse racing are on the card, variation enough to satisfy the most die-hard sport follower.

All Fall For Kibby
One by one the best boys of New England are falling before the hard-billing Tommy Corcoran (Young Kibby). Harry Carlson was supposed to be a hand-picked opponent. The Brockton boy was not handicapped by weight allowances and was known to be at his best when entering the ring at his own figure, but he too felt the sting of the Lawrence man's smashes and lost the decision. He stayed the limit but it was tough sledding. Lawrence fans would have liked to have witnessed another knockout, for they bet on that outcome, but they still are ahead of the game by several leaps.

Tyler May Move Again
The New York Sun says:

"If the temperamental Dave Robertson, now ensconced in Norfolk, Va., will consent to play the outfield for the Cubs we will see George Tyler pitching for the Giants. We hear that a trade has been rigged up by McGraw and Mitchell and that Tyler's transfer to the New York club is being held up pending McGraw's furnishing Mitchell with proof that Robertson will play with Chicago. Tyler is a left hander and McGraw needs another pitcher of that persuasion very badly. While Tyler hasn't done very much for the Cubs this season he is coming around pretty well and next week or so will be ready to take his regular turn. For a team that hopes to win the National league pennant Chicago has an outfield which is decidedly discouraged. Max Plick is the only outfielder who is hitting and he is going at .238, leading the whole Cub outfit with the bat. Les Mann is hitting only .321 and Dode Paskert, the sensation of 1918, is down to a measly .154. No matter how badly Robertson went, he would be far more effective than either Mann or Paskert and Mitchell is hot on Dave's trail."

Let's Go From Here!
Things seem to be perking up around the New England league circuit from an attendance standpoint. All clubs are playing good baseball. A slipshod game slips in now and then, of course, but take it all in all, it is a satisfactory brand. Lewiston, Portland, Haverhill and Fitchburg are playing to fine crowds and increases have been noted in Lowell and Lawrence. This city and Lawrence, however, are still far behind and it shouldn't be so. Lowell is almost twice as large as Fitchburg, the city is represented by a better ball club and the fans should support it. In Weafer, Eckstein, Baker and Bossie Lowell has a quartet of hummers.

"GOT TO MAKE LIVING SOME WAY" JESS TELLS FANS

It isn't often the photographer gets a chance to catch Jess Willard, heavyweight champion, in such a pose. Jess is kidding the crowd at the ringside in Toledo. He's feeling exceptionally good this particular afternoon. After much hanker had passed back and forth, Jess said, "Well, I've got to make a living somehow." It was just after he had flattened out one of his sparring partners.

BIG POLICE CHIEF GETS BIG SURPRISE

Supt. Welch has been a permanent passenger on the water wagon for many long years, and he didn't deviate a bit from his usual beverages last evening. But when he picked up the first letter in his morning mail today he rubbed his eyes, pinched himself two or three times and wondered if perhaps he wasn't seeing things that ain't.

both of which are alleged to have been stolen from Abdelmal Abdelal of Middlesex street on June 21 by Thomas Murray, alias Babrowsky, a Dracut, who is now held in $1000 bonds for trial tomorrow.

To make the matter even more mystifying to the chief, no message was contained in the letter, which has been mailed at the local postoffice, and the chief is at a loss as to the identity of his anonymous correspondent. He's going to do his darndest to find out immediately—there's no doubt about that.

Murray or Babrowsky, whatever his real name is, was arrested June 22 on a charge of breaking and entering the room of Abdelal on Middlesex street and stealing postal certificates valued at $1000; cash amounting to $415, two bankbooks with deposits totaling $1000 each, and various articles of clothing. One bankbook and certificates amounting to $535 were recovered at the time, and with the missing bankbook and certificates now in the hands of the chief, the cash and clothing are all that remain unaccounted for.

SPEEDY RATIFICATION OF TREATY EXPECTED

PARIS, July 1 (Havas).—Speedy ratification of the peace treaty with Germany by three of the great powers whose ratification, together with that of Germany, is necessary to make the treaty effective, is anticipated by the French press. The only delays of any appreciable length expected are in the case of Italy, where difficult national problems are taking precedence, and the United States, where the newspapers forecast probable prolonged discussion in the senate.

Japan, it is anticipated, will expedite the ratification process. (With Great Britain and France, the ratification of the treaty with Japan would be all that would be necessary to put the treaty into effect for these powers and Germany, given favorable action by the German national assembly.)

Meats in Storage

Every working day of the year 75,000,000 pounds of meat are required to supply home and export needs—and only 10 per cent of this is exported.

These facts must be kept in mind when considering the U. S. Bureau of Markets report that on June 1, 1919, there were 1,348,000,000 pounds of meats in cold storage. If the meat in storage was placed on the market it would only be 20 days' supply.

This meat is not artificially withheld from trade channels to maintain or advance prices.

Meats in storage consist of—

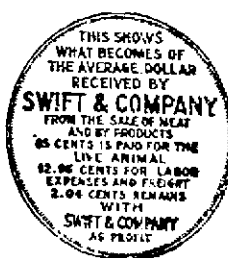

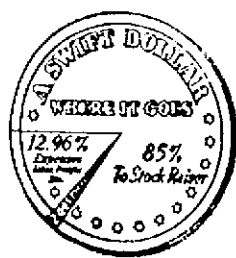

- 65 per cent (approximate) hams, bacon, etc., in process of curing. It takes 30 to 90 days in pickle or salt to complete the process.
- 10 per cent is frozen pork that is to be cured later in the year.
- 6 per cent is lard. This is only four-fifths of a pound per capita, and much of it will have to go to supply European needs.
- 19 per cent is frozen beef and lamb, part of which is owned by the Government and was intended chiefly for over-seas shipment. If this were all diverted to domestic trade channels, it would be only 1½ lbs. per capita—a 3 days' supply.

From this it will be seen that "meats in storage" represent merely unfinished goods in process of curing and the working supply necessary to assure the consumer a steady flow of finished product.

JESS WILLARD

KNOCKED OUT

N.E.A. Special to The Sun

FORT COBB, Okla. —The statement that Jess Willard has never been knocked out is untrue. There lives in Albert, a small town a few miles from here, the man who did it. He isn't regarded as the heavyweight champion today because he whipped Jess before the latter was champion and he whipped him in a contest that was not held under Marquis of Queensberry rules.

But Jess was knocked out cleanly and he had enough. There was no purse up. It was sort of a punitive expedition on the part of the victor.

The winner of the scrap was John Willard, eldest brother of the champion. He whipped Jess because the latter wanted to smoke half a box of cigars.

John had a pony and Jess, at seventeen, was somewhat of a jockey. He rode the pony to first place in a race and won a box of cigars. He contended he was entitled to half the cigars. John however, after a short fistie argument, convinced him he was not. It was a right hook that put Jess to sleep on the green. Jess doesn't smoke.

John still chuckles over the fight. He was somewhat bigger than Jess then. He was grown—6 feet 4 inches and weighed 190 pounds.

But it turned out as it usually does—the pupil has surpassed the teacher. John taught Jess the first rudiments of the boxing game. He started him off as a jockey but Jess grew too big. He also tried to teach him to farm, but Jess didn't prove adept.

Brother John is quite a substantial citizen of Calico county. He is president of the Farmers' Educational and Cooperative Union of America. He's a strong rooster for Jess. He thinks Dempsey has tackled too good a man this time—that Jess has the size, strength and science to stop any man. "I'll be about the seventh round says John—meaning Dempsey will take a nap about that time."

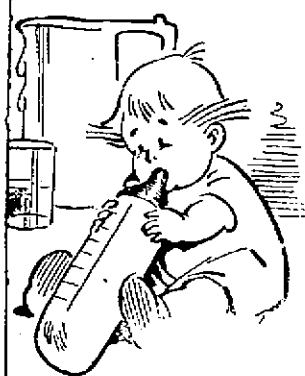

John took great interest in a series of "fighting faces" of Dempsey, published in the Oklahoma City News. He said they were made to register "wonder, surprise, fear, hate and pain." John said there should have been another one showing Jack asleep.

Jess Willard as he was when he won that pony race and (below) his brother John, the only man who ever K. O'd Jess.

Mrs. Leonard J. Brooke, a well known society woman of Goshen, Ind., appeared in court before Samuel S. Whitaker, who is her father, and was fined $1 and costs for speeding an automobile—the usual assessment for first offenses of that nature.

FATE SAYS THAT

DEMPSEY'LL WIN

BY BETTY BROWN

N.E.A. Fight Bureau, Room 117, Hotel Bloor

TOLEDO, O.—If you believe in signs—put your money on Jack Dempsey! Fate has doped Jack Dempsey to win the championship!

It's in his palm! It's in the spiritual influences hovering over Jack's head! According to all the "signs" Jack's troubles are over and he's on the high-road to wealth and great notoriety!

I'm just home from a "reading" with one of the most noted and successful of Toledo's seers—a combination and power. He's so determined he can do anything he wants to.

"My, what a hand! I see big things in it—he's going to have wonderful success—money—notoriety! It's right there! It's coming soon—lots of money—immense success. He's going to accomplish something big—and in the near future. I don't see anything as can stop him."

"Your friend is going to have lots of money. You tell him when he gets it not to let it make a fool of him."

"He is sometimes subject to fits of melancholy. That is foolish—he has nothing to worry about."

"When he reaches the age of 35 he will have everything—he will be at his best. His good habits will be his palmist and spiritualistic medium who gave me a reading of Jack's palm so accurate and so thrilling I'm ready to go out and bet money on him myself!

Here's Jack Dempsey's palm. Are you good at palm-reading? Do you agree with the Toledo medium who says Jack Dempsey's hand proves he will beat Willard on July 4 and win the heavyweight championship of the world?

I can't tell you the lady's name—because palmistry is "agin the law" in Toledo—(it seems to be about the only thing that's "agin the law" here)—and I don't want to get my friend in trouble.

This morning Jack Dempsey obligingly inked his mighty right hand for me and impressed it firmly on a sheet of smooth white paper! Jack was too busy to chase a palmist with me this afternoon. He had a little scuffling with Bill Tate, et al at his training camp.

However, I sketched out the palmist lady, and flashed the palm impression on her as that of a friend of mine!

Without knowing the identity of the palm's owner, here are her first remarks:

"He's in some kind of dangerous business! Is he an aviator? No—O—I see it isn't that—but it's something awfully dangerous. He must guard against an accident."

"He's in a specially critical time of his life right now—he must beware of an accident—but I see he's going to get through what he's tackling all right. I'd say he was in his twenties—wasn't he? Young!"

"He's a big fellow—lots of energy best friends.

"I also see the figures $5,000. I don't know whether its dollars or not—it's $5,000 though—very plain."

"I couldn't hold in any longer! I had to tell her the truth—and find out all the details of what is going to happen! I blurted out: 'This is the hand of one of the fighters!'"

"It's Dempsey," she exclaimed. "I've seen the D there all the time."

"That explains that great success line! He's going to win! Everything is in his favor—he's sure to win."

"Four is his lucky number. He certainly has luck in his favor on the Fourth."

"He has a lot of scientific skill—I see it. He thinks. He works scientifically."

"Tell him to be careful in the fifth round! That's his most dangerous round."

She began to count, slowly.

"One—yes—tell him to take it easy in the first round. The other man will take it easy. Two, yes—three—four—five—five—there he must be careful—six, yes—seven—eight—eight! That's his round! Things look fine there—that's most favorable!"

Then I paid the lady my little old dollar and galloped to this typewriter to tell you all about it—and advise you—(if you believe in signs)—to put your money on Jack Dempsey!

Shook Hands With Valera

be Dr. James T. Gallagher, of Charlestown, asked him if he would like to shake hands with the man about whom he was reading.

Rodgers was naturally surprised but the significance of the party in front of him dawned on him instantly and he soon made out the figure of Mr. de Valera. Mr. Gallagher introduced him to the provisional president as well as to Governor Bartlett of New Hampshire and Mr. de Valera's secretary, Harry J. Boland.

Several members of the party inquired what the building in front of them—the French orphanage—was and upon being told they got out of the machines and went into the yard where a number of the orphanage children were playing.

Mr. de Valera asked the youngsters if they could make a speech in French and they replied that they couldn't. He then suggested that they sing for him and they accommodated by singing several French numbers.

Before leaving the orphanage Mr. de Valera showered the children with money and oranges and by this time the puncture had been repaired and the party again resumed its journey to Manchester. It stayed here some 15 or 20 minutes.

Dr. Gallagher who introduced Rodgers to Mr. de Valera is well known to Lowell people. He is the author of

The hotter the day, the cooler the "tall glass." At least that's the way it should be, and your family knows it. So the next time everyone is assembled, try one of these cooling draughts on them, and see how many re-orders you will have for the next day.

Rhubarb Pop: Cook slowly in 4 cups of water an equal amount of cubed rhubarb. When it is soft, strain through doubled cheese cloth. Add 1½ cups of sirup made by boiling 2 cups of hot water with 1 cup of sugar for 10 minutes. Then add the juice of 2 lemons and of 1 orange, a pinch of salt, and let chill. Pour the mixture into a punch bowl, add ice, and 2 cups of ice water.

Raspberry Lemonade: Cook for 10 minutes 1½ cups of sugar with 2 cups of water. When this sirup has cooled, add 4 cups of crushed fresh raspberries, juice of 1 orange and 3 lemons. Let it stand in the refrigerator for 3 hours. Then serve, unstrained, and diluted with 1 quart of ice water.

Mintade: Place a dozen or 15 sprigs of green mint in the bottom of a punch bowl. Pour over them a cup of sirup, made by boiling for 10 minutes a cup of sugar and 2 cups of water. Add the juice of 6 lemons, and thin slices of 3 lemons. Next put in a quart of crushed ice, and 2 cups of ice water. From a considerable height pour into the mixture a quart of ginger ale and serve.

Apricot Punch: Before removing from the fire, a sirup of a cup and a half of sugar and a cup of water, add to it the juice and pulp of a can of apricots, rubbed through a colander. Let this chill, then add a pint of cider, the juice of 2 oranges and 3 lemons. Let stand in the refrigerator for 3 hours before serving, diluted with a quart of ice water.

Wreck at Dunkirk

Journal and was delayed here. A flagman was sent back to protect the rear. It is claimed, but the Westerner, approaching at 45 to 50 miles an hour, did not check its speed perceptibly as it rushed into the Dunkirk yards, witnesses say.

The coaches of number 41 were all of steel. The rear of the last coach was badly battered. A number 7's engine ploughed into it but the body remained intact, although it was overturned and twisted at right angles with the rails. Three other coaches of number 41 were also battered and pushed off the rails but remained upright.

Boiler Explosion
The tender of the engine of the Westerner buckled back through a wooden express car. Lifted slightly by the wreckage of this car the engine and tender then crashed down into a steel day coach, the first passenger car of the train. It was here that all the fatalities occurred. The boiler of the Westerner's engine exploded, fatally scalding Engineer Clifford and Fireman S. Toltz.

Next to the day coach on the Westerner was a sleeper. It, too, was partially wrecked and turned over into Third street, which parallels the tracks. Many of the injured were taken from this sleeper.

Tramp Blamed for Tragedy

WASHINGTON, July 1.—An unidentified tramp, killed in the New York Central railroad wreck at Dunkirk, according to reports to the railroad administration, was probably the cause of the tragedy. The mechanism controlling the flow of air from the locomotive to the brakes on the train was found shut off at the place where the tramp was riding.

MIDDLESEX FARM BUREAU BULLETIN

The European corn borer is discussed in the bulletin issued this week by Louis V. Rowe of the Middlesex farm bureau, who is supervising demonstration gardens here. The bulletin follows:

The farmers and gardeners who are located within the European corn borer quarantine district have become alarmed over the news that their corn crop will be destroyed if found infested with the European corn borer.

The latest official ruling of the state department of agriculture, however, states that corn infested with the European corn borer will not be destroyed until fall when a grand clean-up of the infested area will be made. The quarantine will be rigidly enforced and everything done to keep the borer within the infested district. It is up to every one of us to help in the control of this dangerous pest which threatens the corn crop of the country. Don't forget that it isn't too late to plant another crop of shell or string beans, heels or carrots. Try some coss lettuce, kohlrabi or Chinese cabbage if you have not grown any before. They are all easy to raise and it's ten to one you will never be without them again. Late cabbage and cauliflower plants may be set out too. You will harvest them before frost if you keep them growing.

Your cucumbers, squashes and melons need a thorough spraying of Bordeaux and arsenate of lead every week to 10 days. Don't neglect them. The plant lice or aphids have ruined many pea crops already. Inspect your potatoes and tomatoes every day or two for lice. In spraying for plant lice you have got to hit the culprit himself. Spraying the foliage won't do. When spraying with "Black leaf 40" for plant lice use the mixture stronger than what the manufacturer recommends and be sure to use soap with the mixture. Use 1½ teaspoonfuls of "Black Leaf 40" and 1 cubic inch of common laundry soap to one gallon of water.

A good strong stream from the garden hose will prove a satisfactory means of control for the plant lice. It washes them from the plants and a great many are killed.

Many gardeners have experienced a trouble of the tomato plant in which several of the leaves have a tendency to curl upward from each edge. This is a physiological condition of the plant which is still under investigation at the agricultural experiment stations. The exact course as yet has not been ascertained. The plant does not seem to suffer any from this abnormal condition and generally outgrows it.

Do the weeds in your garden make it an eyesore in the neighborhood? The vegetables might just as well be getting the plant food and moisture that the weeds are consuming. Whatever you do, don't let the weeds go to seed. Take a file and put a good sharp edge on the hoe. It will make the job ten times easier, and while you are doing the weeding you might just as well thin the different vegetables to their proper distances. Letting root crops grow too thick is a common fault among the gardeners.

If you plan to let your tomato vines run over the ground, spread lawn clippings or straw around the plants. This will help keep the fruit clean and also form a mulch which prevents evaporation of moisture from the soil.

In the summer time the hoe and the cultivator are the gardeners' best friends.

HIT BY MOTORCYCLE

Mrs. Frederick A. Estes of 115 Westford street, was struck by a motorcycle at the corner of Aiken avenue and West Sixth street, at noon today, and received injuries to her arm. The ambulance took her to the Lowell Corporation hospital.

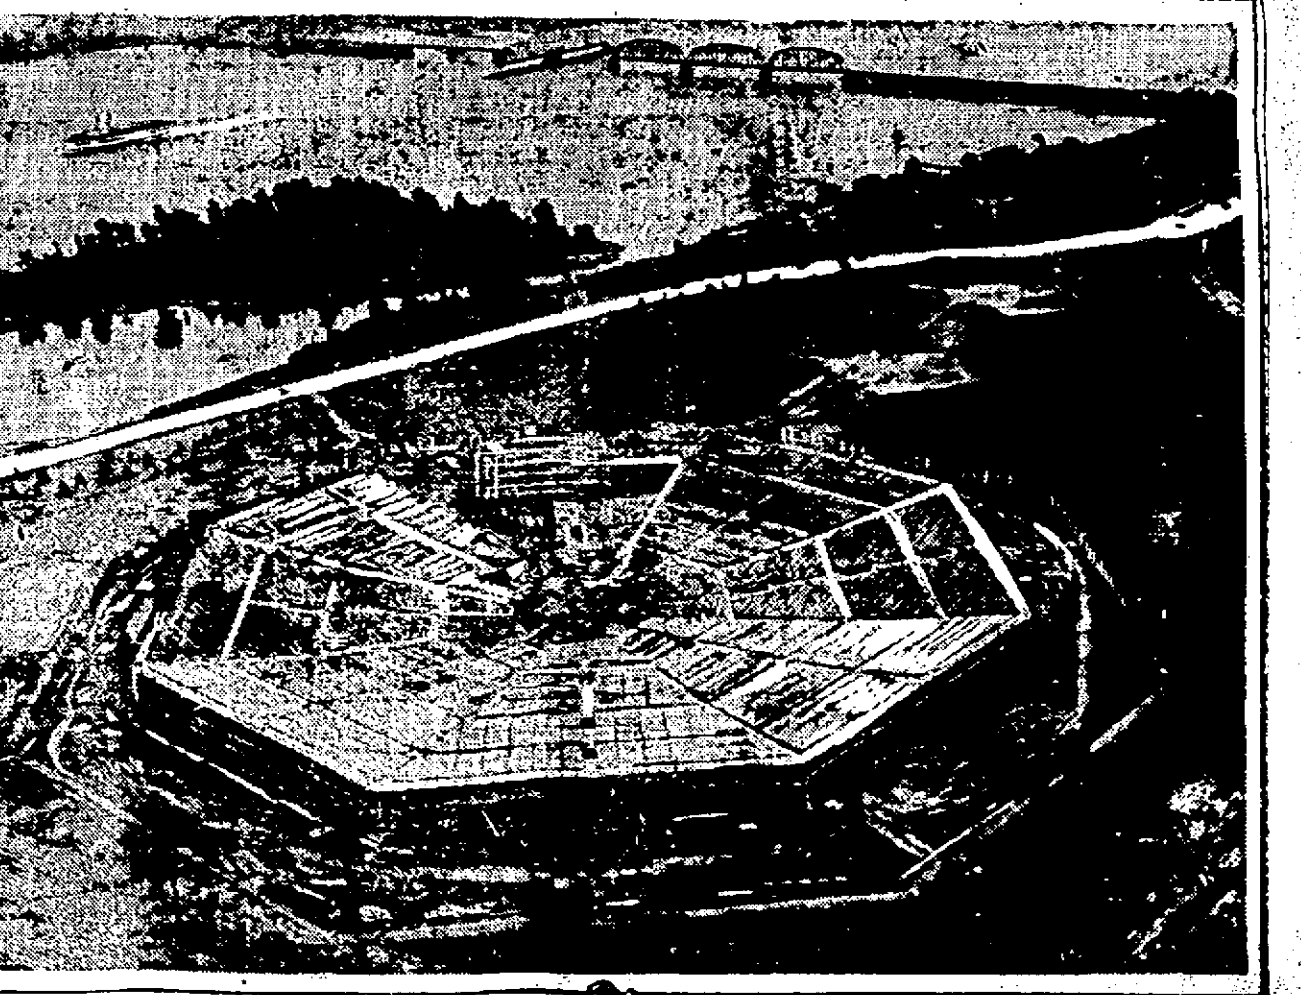

A maple tree planted years ago by the city of Brockton in front of the residence of E. F. O'Neill, West Elm street, died before its time, but somehow the seed of a wild cucumber vine became lodged in the fork of the tree and with the vines now beginning to spread the hanging garden is attracting much attention.

WEATHER HEALTH FOR BABY—MAKING BABY'S SUM- MER NAP A COMFORT

BY MRS. MAX WEST,
Child Care Expert of the U. S. Children's Bureau.

The very young baby spends most of his time asleep and is not much disturbed by extreme heat if properly clothed. Such a baby, if fed at the mother's breast, suffers very little from hot weather. But the year-old baby is often restless and uncomfortable. In order to give the year-old baby the 14 hours of sleep he needs every effort must be made to keep the room cool, both by night and by day. An electric fan will help, and a sleeping porch, screened against flies and mosquitoes will afford the baby a comfortable bedroom. A bath just before bedtime will often soothe a restless baby and cool the heated skin so he can go to sleep.

Mothers should be warned against giving the baby any sort of medicine to induce sleep. If the baby does not sleep, there is something the matter which requires her careful attention, but she should never give drugs, save under the immediate directions of a good physician.

If the baby must sleep indoors he should always sleep in a bed by himself, and whenever possible, in a room by himself, in order that he need not be disturbed from the moment he is put down until he is taken up in the morning. Nightclothing and sleeping bags are described in the bulletin on Infant Care, published by the Children's Bureau, United States department of labor, Washington, D. C., and sent free to anyone asking for it.

The baby less than six months old should sleep 15 to 20 hours out of the 24. At six months of age this baby should sleep 16 hours a day, at one year, 14 hours, and at two years at least 12 hours.

Train the baby from the beginning to have the longest period of unbroken sleep at night. At first the baby will nap both in the morning and afternoon, then gradually the two naps will be merged into one and the longest waking period will be in the late afternoon. Baby should have his supper at 5:30 and be in bed at 6.

Make the baby comfortable in a clean, cool, quiet room, clean bed, the windows open and screened, the light out. After the mother is sure the baby is comfortable she should not go to him when he cries, if he is a perfectly healthy baby. Train him to go to sleep alone and so increase the comfort and rest of the whole household. Do not play with or over-stimulate the nerves of the baby just before it is time for him to go to bed. It disturbs his sleep and endangers his health. If the baby cries too much, or seems uncomfortable after he goes to bed be sure he is not too warm or too cool, that his clothes are not wet, that no wrinkles are in the bed clothing, that he is not disturbed by tight bands of clothing, or pins, or scratchy flannel. The room may be too light, too hot, or noisy, or too "stuffy." Be sure the conditions are right for his sleeping. In hot summer weather give the baby a lukewarm or slightly cool sponge bath before putting him to bed. Let him sleep in a thin, short-sleeved, collarless slip. The very little baby should be turned over once or twice in the course of a long nap. Give the baby a quiet place to sleep and then do not disturb the household routine and force the whole family to walk on tiptoe or speak in whispers during his nap. Teach him to sleep through ordinary household noises.

Mrs. Carson Says Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Corrected Numerous Symptoms of the Disease

"I was saved from a life of semi-invalidism by the selection of the right tonic," states Mrs. C. A. Carson, living at No. 3 High Street Court, Portland, Me. "I was so run down in health that I was without ambition or energy and was forced to lie down and rest frequently during the day. No matter how tired I might feel I couldn't sleep well. My stomach was disordered and the digestive processes were incomplete. I was very nervous and my failure to gain any relief caused melancholia. I also had a bad cough which was sometimes so severe that it seemed as though it strained my stomach."

"My mother had told me about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I finally decided to give the remedy a trial. In a few days I experienced the first relief that I had found for a long time and gradually my strength returned. I sleep well now and am no longer tired or unstrung. I can eat without fear of stomach distress and feel much better in every way. I have recommended Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a good many times and always stand ready to endorse the remedy as a tonic."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes, $2.50, by Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Write today for the free booklet, "Building Up the Blood."—Adv.

BET ON WILLARD HE CAN'T LOSE

BUT YOU WILL IF YOU DON'T SEE HIM AS THE WESTERN HERO, JOE BATES, IN HIS FIRST BIG PHOTO PRODUCTION "THE CHALLENGE OF CHANCE"

THE LADIES WILL ENJOY THIS SENSATIONAL MELODRAMA OF THE SCREEN BETTER THAN WORDS CAN TELL

A SCREEN performer of natural dignity and very pleasing personality, Jess Willard is a decided success in the role of a ranch foreman in "The Challenge of Chance." His character is that of an expert horse buyer, who comes upon a conspiracy to assassinate a lot of blooded horses where a band of Mexican insurgents can carry them off in a raid.

Willard's feats of strength are remarkable ones, and not to be doubted when he is seen in action. The wonder is that several of the villainous characters arrayed against him were not sent to the hospital in real life, for he seems to be unconsciously of his enormous strength at times, and a stray punch without evil intention, looks to be the full equivalent of a mile kick. He makes a convincing border hero and holds the eye through a very decided and equally interesting personality. The story is one of rapid action once it is under way, so rapid that it is almost impossible to distinguish between friends and foes in the general mixup of Mexicans and Americans. For those who demand action and plenty of it, "The Challenge of Chance" will meet all requirements.

Some of the large ensembles involving the use of hundreds of men, are in the border fighting some vivid suggestion of what actually goes on and may be expected, scenes liable at any time to become unpleasantly realistic, and unusual pains have been taken to intensify this realism. There is a little love story, but not that of the kind which plays the hero's role without selfish interest of any kind, so far as the heroine is concerned. Arline Pretty is attractive as the girl.

Portland Schooner Sunk After Collision With Tank Steamer—Crew Saved

PORTLAND, Me., July 1.—The Portland schooner Topsail Girl, which discharged her cargo of sword fish at Boston yesterday, and the tank steamer Texaco 145, which was leaving for New York were in collision today in the main ship channel between the Breakwater and Spring Point Light.

The schooner was beached on the South Portland shore, where she sank in shallow water with a large hole in her port bow. She filled so rapidly that Captain Wm. Johnson and his crew of eight men had no time to save their personal effects. With the exception of Eugene Burnham, who jumped from the rigging to the deck of the steamer, they got away safely in their dories.

Efforts were to be made at once to patch the hole and raise the vessel, which registers 62 tons. The steamer, little damaged, proceeded. She is owned by the Texas Oil company.

ANNOUNCE KRUPP PLANT "SOLD TO AMERICANS"

LONDON, July 1.—The Krupp works at Munich have been sold to Americans, according to despatches from Munich quoting newspapers there. It is added several industrial concerns in the Bavarian capital also have passed into American hands.

MUNICH, Monday, June 30. (By the Associated Press).—The local Krupp works are being liquidated purely in the interest of the employees, following the tremendous losses which have resulted since the revolution. American capitalists were considering taking over the plant and forming a German-American works, but abandoned the plan owing to bad conditions here.

FIGHT FIRE IN UNOCCUPIED HOUSE

An alarm from box 216 at 2:19 o'clock this morning summoned a portion of the fire department to an old unoccupied house in Lawrence street, near the corner of Wamsit street, where a lively blaze was in progress on the first floor of the building. Before the fire was extinguished the flames worked their way to the roof via the partitions, but the damage was not great.

One of the lodgers at 66 Worthen street, while enjoying a smoke in his bed at 3:24 o'clock this morning, set the bed afire and an alarm from box 12 was sent in. The blaze, which destroyed the bed, was confined to the room.

The Lowell German War Veterans' association is soon to receive its charter from the American Legion, the national association for German war veterans with headquarters at Washington, D. C., according to information received today by Francis M. Qua from Col. Herbert of Boston, state president of the organization.

At a recent meeting of the Lowell association a committee was appointed to secure a charter from the national organization and the application signed by 15 members was sent to Col. Herbert, who in turn sent it to Washington. It is believed that it will be but a few days before the charter is received in this city. The committee consists of the following: Francis M. Qua, Joseph D. Sullivan and Elie B. Hart. Those who signed the application are as follows: John C. Leggal, Arthur L. Eno, Benjamin J. Moloney, George F. Toye, Thomas H. Bodkin, Thomas M. Lazy Life During Hot Months Causes Lazy Liver

AT no other time is the girl so constant a companion of her mother as when she is emerging into womanhood. There are so many questions to ask; so much she needs to know.

And school is over. Here is now a lazy, inactive, carefree life. No wonder she is not always as lively and as well as she should be at her age. Let the mother inquire if the bowels are functioning properly, for there lies the basis of good and poor health.

It will usually be found that a laxative is needed, and none will give safer and quicker relief than Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin which is just a combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin. Taken tonight, it acts freely and pleasantly in the morning. The head is again clear, the body light. There is renewed interest in life.

A dose of Syrup Pepsin now and then is almost a necessity for everyone in hot weather. A bottle can be bought at any drug store for 50c and $1, the latter being the family size, or a free trial bottle can be had by sending your address to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 480 Washington St., Monticello, Ill.

BERNE, July 15.—(Correspondent of the Associated Press).—Constantine, former king of Greece has left Lucerne for Locarno in order to reduce expenses. He has been paying 2400 francs a day at one of the principal hotels. He has a suite of six persons.

Prince Johann of Liechtenstein, the aged ruler of that little principality on the eastern frontier of Switzerland, has asked the Swiss government if he may live permanently in Switzerland. His request will probably be greeted. He has determined to abandon his country permanently on account of the democratic tendencies of the population, which is about 10,000.

Raise Pay of All City Employees

CHICAGO, July 1.—Troubles of the city with its employees over wages seemed nearer solution today as the result of the council's action in raising the wages of all classes of city workers.

Night hundred city hall clerks who struck yesterday were expected to return to their desks, having been granted an increase of wages to $1500 a year. The firemen and policemen were raised from $1500 a year to $1800, and street cleaners and garbage collectors were given 50c a day additional.

EAGLES' GRAND LODGE SUES BOSTON AERIE

BOSTON, July 1.—In a bill in equity filed in the superior court yesterday by the Fraternal Order of Eagles against John N. Keenan, Jr., John D. Carmody, secretary and treasurer of Boston, Aerie No. 45, of the order, and others, the allegation is made that the charter of the Boston Aerie has been revoked by the grand lodge because of the sale of intoxicating liquor to non-members, brawls in the buffet, misappropriation of profits of the buffet and other reasons.

By the bill the grand lodge seeks to get the funds of the local branch and asks for an accounting from the officers named, and for an injunction to restrain them from expending the funds, and also to have the banks in which the funds are deposited ordered to turn the moneys over to the grand lodge.

The case will come up Thursday on an order of notice. The bill alleges an investigation was made of charges against the local lodge and the report of the trial committee was sustained by the grand lodge.

The committee reported that the local lodge defied the authority of the grand lodge, violated the laws of Massachusetts in permitting non-members to patronize the buffet and purchase directly or indirectly intoxicating liquors, permitted a man to vote who had been suspended from membership for non-payment of dues and continued to run the buffet in violation of an order from the grand lodge.

The committee further reported the conduct of the buffet brought the lodge into disrepute, that profits had been dissipated to some extent, that there had been misappropriation of $1200, that fights have occurred in the rooms of the local lodge and in its buffet, resulting in injury to men, and that vile epithets have been applied to officers at sessions, followed by brawls and fights.

Mrs. A. Sinclair of Woodstock, N. H., caught a hen hawk in her hands and after quite a battle succeeded in killing it. It measured 2½ feet from tip of bill to tip.

SOMETHING CHEAPER THANK GOODNESS

With the resumption of two-cent postage at 12:01 a. m. today, Postmaster Mechem believes the Lowell office has started one of the busiest weeks in its history, with a volume of business exceeded only by some Christmas weeks.

Purchasers of large quantities of two-cent stamps by business houses will account for most of the increased business, according to the postmaster. Officials of the Lowell office doubt that any considerable quantity of mail matter will be held over until today to take advantage of the lower rate.

The old rate was resumed in Lowell just after midnight today, as was the case at all postoffices in the country. Clerks on duty at the stamp windows came to work today prepared to keep on the jump every minute, and judging by the business which flowed in during the morning hours, they were not disappointed.

The postmaster believes that the lower rate will mean that more letters and postal cards will be mailed from Lowell in the future, and he looks for a large increase in advertising matter in particular. Lowell folk who still have a quantity of three-cent stamps on hand cannot redeem them at present, as there is no provision by the postmaster general's department for refunding money paid in.

However, these people need not be at a loss, says the postmaster, as the three-cent stamps may be used on letters weighing over an ounce, which require four-cent postage. Most all who have three-cent stamps left will hold them for this purpose, he claims. Three-cent stamped envelopes and two-cent postal cards can be redeemed at the local office, but it is believed that most of these will be used up.

Owing to the failure of the heads of various departments to have estimates of what a 15 per cent. increase in wages for their employees would cost submitted to the finance department in time for the preparation of a supplementary budget, the municipal council was unable to take action in adopting such a budget at its regular meeting this morning and the matter was held over for another week. However, whatever increases are voted at that time will be retroactive to July 1, it was explained at the meeting.

This morning's meeting was a long drawn out session with very little definite action taken. The principal part of it was taken up with a discussion of three orders submitted by Commissioner Murphy providing for the borrowing of a total of $200,000 for street and sewer work. All three orders were laid on the table, but later on motion of Commissioner Murphy one of them was taken from the table and discussed at length. It was finally voted to defer action for a week and the commissioner at that time will bring in a schedule of the streets he intends to macadamize.

Meeting in Detail

The meeting was called at 10:10. Commissioners Murphy and Morse were absent, but came in later.

A hearing was held on the petition of LAWRENCE, July 1.—The closing arguments in the trial of Mrs. Bessie M. (Skeels) Lundgren, charged with the murder of Miss Florence W. Gay, for whom she acted as nurse, were expected to be reached today with the prospect of the case reaching the jury tomorrow. The defense closed yesterday.

Mrs. Nellie R. De Wolfe of New Haven, Conn., first wife of Frank M. Skeels, who later became the husband of the defendant, was recalled by the prosecution in rebuttal today. She testified that Skeels and the defendant, then Miss Bessie Wilkins, left Paterson, N. J., where they were employed in the same office, within a few days of each other, in 1895. She next heard of them in Youngstown, O., where she saw her husband in 1908, she said. Mrs. De Wolfe showed pictures of Skeels and the defendant taken together at that time.

Through Patrick McGovern, a gas inspector, the prosecution obtained testimony to the effect that he heard statements that Mrs. Skeels had been found with her mouth over an open gas jet when she was arrested last year.

It is doubtful if the first seven hours of the day State's time fare regime, so far as the company's Lowell experience is concerned, will show an encouraging result. A number of conductors interviewed by Sun men asserted riding on their cars, they believed, had fallen off not less than 20 per cent. for the time ending at 1 p. m. today.

Certainly it is that probably never before will so many lunches be carried by people long habituated to going home for their lunch. Proving that what is one man's meat is poison for another, restaurants this noon reported an increasingly thriving business.

WASHINGTON, July 1.—The whole nation awoke today to a realization of prohibition. Only those who had stocked up in advance for the long drought or who could find solace in 2 3/4 per cent brew were able to carry out the time-honored custom of starting the day with an early morning bracer.

Wartime prohibition, banning for the time being all distilled liquors and leaving in a cloud of doubt the future of beer, was effective at midnight. Exemption of beer from the list of forbidden beverages came as a result of an 11th-hour announcement by the department of justice that pending decisions in present litigation to determine whether a brew containing

WASHINGTON, July 1.—Test cases on the sale of beverages containing more than one-half of one per cent of alcohol will be brought immediately by the department of justice in all jurisdictions where such cases are not now pending.

"We propose to make immediate arrests of persons who violate the war time prohibition law according to our interpretation thereof," Attorney General Palmer said today. "The department does not intend, however, to be swept off its feet the first day that prohibition comes into effect. We will proceed in an orderly fashion to establish whether intoxicating beverages proscribed by the law include those having less than 2 3/4 per cent alcohol."

House Judiciary Committee to Report Bill to Enforce "Dry" Law
WASHINGTON, July 1.—The house judiciary committee probably will meet Monday to report out a straight bill for enforcement of wartime prohibition so as to stop the sale of 2 3/4 per cent beer.

This plan virtually was agreed upon today after leaders had decided to defer consideration of all prohibition legislation until next week. House leaders said that if the bill were reported by the committee Monday or Tuesday it would be passed without extended debate and sent to the senate. At best, they said, 2 3/4 per cent beer would be on the market less than two weeks.

Mayor Bacharach said the question of liquor selling in Atlantic City was entirely for the United States government to decide. He declared he would not interfere. The United States government would be given every

PARIS, July 1.—The general labor federation has protested against the treatment of Leon Jouhaux and M. Dumoulin of France and Signor Aragona of Italy, delegates to the British labor party conference at Southampton, England, by the English police at Folkestone. It is said they were stopped at Folkestone in the same way that Jean Longuet, leader of the minority socialists, and M. Frossard, general secretary of the French socialist party, were detained. In addition, it is claimed, they were taken before the chief of police and accused of bringing into England "money of suspicious origin for the purpose of corrupting British soldiers and sailors."

Longuet and Frossard were detained at Folkestone on June 19 and after protests Premier Lloyd George telegraphed from Paris authorizing them to proceed to Southampton.

In the meantime they had been released and were on their way back to France.

WASHINGTON, July 1.—Debate on the League of Nations was renewed today in the senate with Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, ranking democrat of the foreign relations committee, reading several editorials from the Stars and Stripes, the official newspaper of the American Expeditionary forces, in support of his argument that popular sentiment favored the league. He said he believed the editorials reflected the sentiment of American soldiers abroad.

SHOCK HANDS HERE WITH IRISH PRESIDENT
George Rodgers, of 55 Butterfield street has the unique honor of being the first Lowell man to shake hands in this city with Eamon de Valera, provisional president of the Irish republic, that liquor having come to him wholly unexpectedly last evening when Mr. de Valera and his party passed through here on the way to Manchester, N. H.

Mr. de Valera's arrival here was unheralded and few people recognized the distinguished leader even though he passed through several of the principal streets. It was about 5:30 that Rodgers, who is about 21 years old, was standing against the fence of the Franco-American orphanage at School and Pawtucket streets reading an account of the reception tendered Mr. de Valera in Boston last Sunday. A party of antiolists, including five machines, was coming up Pawtucket street and just as the leading machine reached School street it suffered a blowout. Rodgers paid little attention to the incident as he assumed that the occupants were merely tourists on their way to New Hampshire.

He continued his reading but a little later was interrupted by one of the members of the party who came over to him, asked him his name and what he was reading. Rodgers replied that he was interested in the reception given Mr. de Valera at Fenway park and his questioner, who later turned out to be

BERLIN, July 1 (By the Associated Press).—Hermann Mueller and Dr. Johannes Bell, the German peace treaty signatories, arrived here at 4 o'clock yesterday morning. Members of the party said that just before arriving at Compiegne occupants of the dining car were startled by a stone or a piece of fireworks thrown into the car through an open window from the direction of a crowd celebrating the signing of peace.

Both the peace delegation which conducted the negotiations at Versailles and the armistice commission at Spa will be dissolved.

Warring on Fare Boost

While motion picture men were not cheerful over wondering if the average Lowell woman would pay 20 cents to ride to and from the celluloid drama.

Like all trying experiences, however, the present time fare situation has some silver under its dark clouds and this is the state appointed trustees of the Bay State, so far as Lowell and the 11 other trolley districts are concerned, have put the question of what the fare charged is to be, directly up to the local manager who in the case of Lowell is, of course, Thomas Lees.

The hope of Lowell people for trolley fare at a cheaper price than a dime must abide with what they believe Mr. Lees and his 30 years' active experience as a trolley roadrunner can accomplish in economy so as to make a fare reduction possible. The riding today has not augured well for this to take place, to tell the truth, but the situation may change.

Many Lowell people believe that metal tokens they have on hand must be taken to the road cashier to be redeemed. This is not necessary, Mr. Lees stated today. A person can board a car and after tendering the conductor three pennies and dropping his tokens in the fare box, will be in good standing. It is expected all the tokens will have been thus used up by the end of the week.

City Zones Affected

This three-cent increase on the price of a ride affects city zones only. Thus the fare to Tyngsboro is but three cents more than was the case last week and the fare to Lakeview is but three cents more. This holds true of all outlying points. Previously the steam fare to Boston was only about 12 cents more than by trolley. Now it will be only a dime more than by trolley which is of course a serious comparison so far as the Bay State through traffic is concerned.

Asked today to state what he considered was the most interesting thing in his opinion connected with the new order of trolley affairs here, Mr. Lees said:

"I think the most interesting thing is that it is put squarely up to me by the trustees of this road to make good as it is the head of authority, or to fail. I have been a railroad man 30 years, but there has never been a time when such complete authority and responsibility was placed in my hands as an executive as in the case starting at midnight last night. And of course

what is true in my case is true for every other man in a similar position to mine, on the Bay State system.

Mr. Lees' Assistant

"So far as Lowell is concerned we are to have a department of track maintenance, a department of overhead power maintenance, a department of powerhouse and power maintenance and a department of accounting, one of public relations and one of operation. Capable and responsible men, it may be understood, are to be in charge of each of these departments with the exception that I function intimately and close with the department of operation and public relations. Mr. V. B. Leavitt, of course, continues as assistant to the general manager.

"Hitherto Boston headquarters has had charge of our track and wire repairing and our accounting was subordinate to the headquarters of the auditing department at Boston. Under the change of affairs as now in force, we are responsible for our own auditing of all matters pertaining to receipts and disbursements and therefore sometime in August, for instance, our chief accountant here will, of course, be able to tell us if we are responsible for a profit or a deficit."

On January 8, this year, the metal token system of collecting fares went into operation, a system under which by paying for five fare tokens at one time the patron secured his riding at 7 cents per ride but if paying a single fare, he was charged a dime. The present increase, therefore, amounts to three cents per individual fare. Mr. Lees was asked today if data was available which would show what, in the case of the street railways in Lowell, the deficit had been each month during the time from Jan. 8 up to the present time, and he said that it was available only through the chief auditor's office at Boston, as all local data on that matter has been sent to Boston.

Poor Financial Condition

There was some discussion several months ago to the effect that possibly the chance of the Bay State showing a profit was influenced by the fact, as it was set forth, that thefts of fares by dishonest carmen had occurred extensively. The increase of fare, installation of the metal tokens and the new Rooks register, it was hoped, might bring encouraging results, but the latter have not been forthcoming and the road is in as bad financial condition as it ever has been, at the present time.

In the story of the three-cent fare increase on the Bay State sent from Boston today by the Associated Press, it was stated, that besides helping the road from the increased passenger revenue, the trustees expected certain consolidations of departments, centralizing of authority by districts and weeding out superfluous clerical and other help, would help the road's financial problem.

This latter phase of course interests Lowell people employed by the Bay State and it was stated from Boston today that, as regards there being some possible resignations being asked for from Lowell employees of the company, Lowell in this respect, would probably have to experience what all the districts must experience.

Loan Orders for $200,000

Commissioner Murphy introduced an order to borrow $100,000 for block paving, another to borrow $75,000 for macadam paving and a third to borrow $25,000 for sewers. Mayor Thompson said that it would be out of the question to borrow any such amount at the present date because the city will be only $129,000 from the debt limit on July 2 (tomorrow). In September it will be only $163,000 from the limit and this does not take into consideration what inroads may be made in the interim.

Commissioner Morse asked Commissioner Murphy how much money he had already received this year for paving. Mr. Murphy replied that he had been appropriated $10,000 for block paving and $15,000 for macadam. He stated that it would be impossible for him to map out any program of work for the rest of the year unless he knew how much money he was to have to work with. That was his object in submitting the orders. However, if the city was as close to the debt limit as the mayor had stated he would be willing to have the matters laid on the table for the present. He made a motion to that effect and it was carried.

Tickets for Ball Game
Mayor Thompson asked the approval of the council of a plan to provide Lowell veterans of the world war with free tickets for the New England league baseball game to be held at Spaulding park on the afternoon of July 1. He said that President Donnelly of the league had agreed to have the Lowell-Fitchburg game transferred from the latter city to Lowell and that the city would be obliged to pay only for those tickets actually used by the soldiers and sailors. If they were given out but not used the city would not have to pay. Commissioner Murphy moved that the matter be laid in the hands of the mayor and it was so voted.

Commissioner Murphy reported favorably on the petition of Arthur B. Chadwick for a sewer in Fairgrove avenue, Burnside street and Shawmut avenue and the accompanying order providing for the expenditure of $5815 was passed.

Commissioner Murphy also reported favorably on the petition of A. J. Harris for a sidewalk at 32 George avenue and the accompanying order was sent to the city clerk's office for 10 days.

Wants Compensation
Hon. James E. O'Donnell appeared before the council in behalf of Edward Dean, an employee of the health department who asked that he be given the difference in his wages paid by that department and his military compensation for the six or eight months that he served in the army. Mr. O'Donnell explained that Mr. Dean went to work for the department as a teamster on Dec. 4, 1917, and continued to work until June, 1918, when he was called to the service. He received $12 a week and his military pay was $30 a month. The money alleged to be owed to him by the city amounts to between $225 and $250. Mr. O'Donnell said. He asked that his client be paid in the same way other city employees who entered the service had been paid.

Mayor Thompson said that one big reason why Mr. Dean had been employed by the department was because he had a team of horses for the use of which he received extra compensation. When he left the department to go into the service these horses were bought by the health department and a fair price paid to Mr. Dean. The latter was not employed under a civil service rating, the mayor said.

Mr. O'Donnell contended that the legislative act accepted by the city did not specify what sort of an employee of the city should receive compensation. It merely said "employees." The matter of the team of horses had no bearing on the matter, he said. It was finally agreed to have Mr. O'Donnell submit a formal claim to the council to be investigated by the law department.

Commissioner Murphy moved that the order to borrow $75,000 for macadam be taken from the table and it was so voted. The mayor being opposed. Commissioner Murphy urged the passage of the order and said that he could spend $75,000 in a good business-like way in four months. Commissioner Marchand suggested that the amount be cut to $35,000 and Mr. Morse wanted to make it $40,000. Mayor Thompson suggested that before any action be taken, Commissioner Murphy submit a report to the council showing what streets he intended to macadamize and how many had already been macadamized this year. He said that if $75,000 were borrowed now the Mores school project would have to be abandoned for this year. It was finally voted to delay action a week with the understanding that Mr. Murphy should bring in a schedule of the work he intends to do.

To Reduce Gasoline Costs
Mayor Thompson read a communication from a special committee of the city council of Jacksonville, Fla., asking that the council adopt a resolution requesting its representatives in congress to make efforts to have the price of gasoline investigated. The Jacksonville council has passed such a resolution, the communication said, and it wished the co-operation of other municipal governments. It pointed out that there was no need for a continued high scale of prices for gasoline as it was no longer a war necessity. The fact that several of the large companies dealing in this commodity had reduced the price for a short period was also brought out as proof that the price could be reduced.

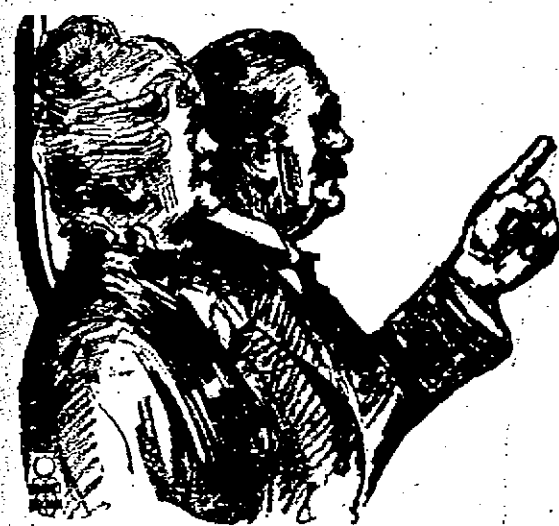

Commissioner Murphy moved that the resolution be passed and it was so voted.

Commissioner Donnelly reported that he had not received wage increase estimates from all the departments in time to prepare a supplementary budget to be presented at today's meeting, but he hoped to have the budget ready for the next meeting.

It was explained that the delay would not affect the pay of those to be benefited by the increase as it could be made retroactive to the first of July.

CRITICAL COMMENT ON WILSON'S SOJOURN

ROME, July 1.—Critical comment on President Wilson's sojourn in Europe is made today by the Tribuna in discussing his return to the United States. "Seven months ago an immense halo of popularity surrounded President Wilson," the Tribuna editorial says. "Europe awaited him as the Messiah in a new era of history, while now he leaves amidst almost general indifference, appearing as an intruder in our continental history, our European civilization and our sacred ideals. "It has been a psychological drama, as President Wilson believes, perhaps sincerely, that he incarnated not only the aspirations of America but also the aspirations of Europe. Instead despite his pure intentions, he failed of his object. He returns to America, leaving behind him a chaos of disorder, passions and disillusion since he could not concede peace according to his principles, but made a compromise brought about by the overbearing attitude of the strong toward the weak."

ALLEGED MURDERER IN POLICE COURT

Elmer V. Maki, who is being held without bail on the charge of murdering Martin Gallagher, was called on continuance before Judge Fisher in police court today. A further continuance was requested by Maki's counsel, Edward J. Tierney, and it was agreed to let the case go over until July 8. Maki has pleaded not guilty on the charge. The murder took place on the night of June 15, when it is alleged by the police that Maki and Gallagher, who are both said to have been drinking a mixture of Jamaica ginger and tonic, got into an argument which resulted in Maki stabbing Gallagher several times with a knife, and causing his death. The alleged stabbing occurred about midnight on the Lakeview avenue ball grounds.

CHICAGO, July 1.—Alderman Michael Kanna (Pinky Dink) closed his famous workingman's exchange half an hour before midnight last night because his supply of beer became exhausted. Any "workingman" without funds could get a drink there free between 5 and 6 o'clock in the morning.

ing 2 1/2 per cent of alcohol is intoxicating, no action would be taken toward stopping the sale of beer containing no more than that amount of alcohol.

Thus, pending court decisions or action by congress defining intoxicating beverages, sale of the lighter drinks will be permitted in states in which there are no regulatory laws, until Jan. 16, when constitutional prohibition becomes effective. Other than this, the only ray of comfort left the anti-prohibitionists is the coming of time when President Wilson will declare demobilization of the army complete which automatically would suspend operation of the wartime prohibition until Jan. 16.

The attorney general's statement said: "After today it will be unlawful to sell for beverage purposes any distilled spirit and any beer, wine or other intoxicating malt or vinous liquor, except for export. The prohibition will continue under the terms of the law 'until the conclusion of the present war and thereafter until the termination of demobilization.' As long as the law thus remains in force, it must be obeyed, and I intend that the department of justice shall do its utmost to perform the duty which the congress has placed upon it."

Law Held Constitutional
This law has been held to be constitutional and valid by the circuit court of appeals sitting in New York. It plainly makes unlawful the sale of whiskey, brandy and other distilled spirits and wine. "The only controversy that has arisen is whether the sale of beer containing so little alcohol as not to be in fact intoxicating, is prohibited. The government's contention has been that the act prohibits the manufacture and sale of beer containing as much as 2 1/2 per cent of alcohol, but the interpretation of the act is not free from difficulty and I am endeavoring to have the question settled by the courts at the earliest possible moment."

No Power to Grant Amnesty

"I have no power to grant amnesty to any who may see fit to manufacture or sell beer pending an authoritative judicial construction of the law, and I am sure that brewers and dealers generally understand that the pendency of litigation will be no protection against prosecution for offenses under the law."

"But with respect to whiskey, brandy and other distilled spirits, wine and beer containing more than 2 1/2 percent of alcohol, and other intoxicating malt or vinous liquors the prohibition is beyond controversy and but one course is open to the department of justice. All persons found selling such liquors must be arrested and prosecuted. The district attorneys will cause warrants to be issued for all offenders as to whom evidence is furnished by the bureau of investigation, the agents of the internal revenue bureau, of the treasury department, local officers or others, and the marshals and their deputies will promptly serve such warrants."

Duty to Make Arrests
"With the co-operation of local authorities it is believed that the law can be made effective. For this reason I call attention to the fact that it is the duty of local arresting officers to make arrests for offenses committed in their presence whether the offense be against the laws of the state or the laws of the United States. "I confidently expect the heavy co-operation of local municipal authorities and earnestly request that all police officers arrest all persons found in violation of the war prohibition act, and to take such persons before a United States commissioner, when the district attorney will cause warrants to issue. Local officers should also report to the United States attorneys evidence of offenses not committed in their presence."

Healthy Bowels
Nine-tenths of human sickness from infancy to old age comes from stomach or bowels being out of order. The prescription, known as Dr. True's Elixir, has done wonders for sick people, men, women and children, because it is the one remedy that you can rely on to set things right in the stomach and bowels. FOUND BEER IN WESTFORD

Six hundred bottles of beer were seized in a raid on the Brick tavern in Westford Sunday afternoon as the result of a little piece of detective work turned in by one of the members of Lowell's finest, Policeman Mahan. The officer has been detailed for Sunday duty in Westford and the surrounding towns for the past weeks, and after hearing of his investigations a search warrant was issued and he, in company with other officers of that district, raided the tavern Sunday and claim to have found evidence of illegal keeping and sales. The proprietor of the inn, Matthew Downs, will be charged with illegal sale, it is said.

ENFORCING DRY LAW

No difficulty in the enforcement of the "dry" law in Lowell is expected by the police, Supt. Welch stated today, but he is prepared for any possible contingency which may arise. The chief believes that the licensed liquor men will add the police to the best of their ability in observing the law, and the trouble, if there is any, will come from the "kitchen barroom" fraternity, in his opinion. Money deposited on or before July 5th, 1919, in The Lowell Five Cent Savings Bank begins to draw interest from that date.

TEWKSBURY NEWS

Pushing New Town Hall Work—Personal Items

Work on the erection of the new town hall in Tewksbury Centre is being rushed along by the contractors, Nicholson & Sons of Boston. A large gang of men is now at work on the digging for the foundations and it is expected that within a short time masons will be on the job. Workmen are also busy, digging four dry wells on the site, a short distance from the proposed building, while others are kept working on the unloading of cement and lumber cars.

The contract for the new Congregational church building has not yet been awarded and according to present outlook it may not be for several months. The church was burned down some months ago and shortly after the parishioners started holding services in Pickering hall. A special building committee was appointed and a campaign for the raising of funds was started. Plans for the new building were drafted and bids were called for. It seems that the committee has found that the fund is not large enough to build at present and at a recent meeting it was voted to postpone the granting of the contract until next January at the annual meeting. Pending the erection of the new church services will be held in Pickering hall, which is in the high school building.

Successful Event

The benefit whist and lawn party conducted recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Clancy in Lee street, preparatory to the annual field day, was a most successful event. The attendance was large, the receipts were very substantial and the program was most enjoyable. Japanese lanterns served to illuminate the lawn, where general dancing was held on a temporary platform, music being furnished by O'Reilly's orchestra of Lowell. While the dancing was going on whist was played and later a varied enjoyable musical program was given.

Pleasant Outing

About 50 residents of the North village enjoyed a trip to Revere beach Saturday, the affair being conducted by Mrs. J. Tully. The ride to the seashore was in a large automobile truck and that proved to be one of the features of the day's program, which included games, sporting events, sight-seeing and dinner.

Personal Items

John Gale, Dorset, is building a large public garage on the Lynch land.

Mr. J. Mahoney, who recently purchased the Cole farm, is making extensive repairs to the building.

Henry Mason, Jr. and Miss Harriett were among those who attended the recent graduation exercises at the Harvard high school in Harvard.

Mr. Frank Riley, who has purchased the ell to the Foster property and removed it to another lot, is now converting it into a dwelling.

Mr. W. Cole is moving from Pleasant street to the Fenton farm on the Whipple road.

Wives—Cameron

The marriage of Miss Frances Cameron, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Cameron, of North Tewksbury, and Mr. Albert Hayes Evans, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Albert Evans, of Lowell, took place in the quaint little Baptist church in North Tewksbury Saturday evening. The guests numbered about 250, and among them were relatives and friends, not only from Lowell and the neighboring towns and states, but also from Detroit, Texas, Philadelphia and Tacoma, Wash. The bride was attired in an extremely simple, but lovely dress of satin with brocade bodice. She wore a veil of tulle caught with lilies of the valley, and carried a shower bouquet of sweet peas and lilies of the valley. She had in attendance her sister, Miss Rebecca Cameron, as maid of honor, who was dressed in a gown of pink and yellow changeable taffeta, and carried a bouquet of Orphelia roses. The bridesmaids were Miss Jean Cameron, sister of the bride, Miss Helen McGregor, of New York, Miss Ruth Fuller of Newton, and Miss Catherine Waterbury, of Detroit. They were dressed in the pastel shades of organdie—pink, green, yellow and orchid, and carried bouquets of pink and lavender, sweet peas. Little Miss Mildred Cameron, niece of the bride, was flower girl, and was dressed in blue organdie, carrying a basket of flowers of various hues. Mr. Harold Putnam was best man, and the ushers were Mr. Harold McKnight, Mr. Harold Bartlett, Mr. George Cameron and Mr. Malcolm Cameron. Immediately following the ceremony was a reception held at the home of the bride. The parents of the bride and groom received with them, the bride's mother wearing a gown of grey-net over grey satin and the mother of the groom wearing a sequin overdress over a slip of pale grey. One of the attractions of the wedding was the beautiful floral display in both church and home, carnations of all shades, hydrangeas, spirea and ferns formed parts of the harmonious whole. Among the many beautiful gifts there was furniture of all kinds, china, cut glass, and exquisite silver, also linens—and those most acceptable gifts—gold pieces and checks. This most charming wedding had the enthusiasm and interest of the friends of both the bride

SPOTLIGHTS ON THE ROAD TO SCHOOL DRESS REFORM AND OTHER THINGS

It's a funny thing—the connection between school girl uniform and ear-bobs, lip sticks, and the rouge pot. Or rather than connection; one should rightly say antipathy.

The point of the observation being that, in most cases where the experiment of winning over high school girls to the uniform idea has succeeded, the rouge, lip stick, protruding hair-dress, and kindred ensnarements such as eyebrow and lash sticks, have vanished with the coming of the new favorites. Verily, the mysteriously folding tents of the Arabs had nothing on the aforementioned.

Take one large city high school, which will be let pass unnamed, over which presides a well-beloved, understanding and understandable principal. When the idea which had nagged and haunted for weeks finally won, and he decided to attempt school dress reform high school girls' dress—he put the question up to the assembled girls for a vote. Ninety per cent. voted to wear uniformity and the girls' established reliance in his judgment had to do with the vote aside from their own good sense and balance, must remain a mystery.

At any rate, the same girls who a few months ago appeared morning after morning for school duties in transparent georgette waists, "made-up" complexions, and intricate ear-puffs, now present true, girlish complexions, smoothly combed hair conforming to the shape of the head—and blue gingham one-piece dresses, made after the fashion of the good old "Peter Tons." Only in this case, no make-believe sailor's insignia adorns the arm—an official school chevron takes its place, the initials of the school above stripes in the correct number to show the school year.

These for every day. When some "dress" occasion comes, no more do they fret about "I wonder what Sadie will wear. Wish I had a new silk like Marion's—I'm just sure she'll wear it.

I'll feel so shabby." Regulation frocks of exactly the same style, but of white poplin instead of blue gingham, are the order of that day.

"But the monotony!" Was the wall of some of the mothers when the idea first grew. No such thing—poor individuality is the girl who has not an idea of collar and cuffs, and color of tie, to wear. And ample latitude is given in that direction, both with the blue gingham and the white poplin. Perhaps, stiffly laundered white Peter Pan collar with deep flare cuffs, made distinctive with a lustrous black silk tie, set apart one girl; while another may have added a pearl or dull silver belt buckle. And wavy, but neatly held back hair, or smoothly combed thick, straight hair, closely following the line of the head, may make the appearance of two other girls as widely different as the seas, but equally attractive.

More—the dresses are economical. Still more—they are so simple of execution that the girls are inspired to learn how to make their own.

MAN SHOT AS BOSTON BURIES DEMON RUM

BOSTON, July 1.—In reluctant demise at a weird midnight hour expired John Barleycorn—and his devotees in hilarious agony made the gray dawn resound with the obsequies.

Such a night of hilarious abandon the city has never seen. Aiding in its holiest festivities to the last, were the hotels and cafes; but its chief exuberance was furnished by the ruddy youths flowing in a tidal wave across the city, some of whom were managed to stand the strain upon their stocks.

The rush of liquor purchasers had the wholesale places for their chief objectives during the early hours of the final day in John Barleycorn's era of sway. Thousands of dollars went into investments against the preliminary days of the thirsty spell. The suburban street cars and the suburban trains had more bundle-carrying passengers than ever in their history.

These bundles safely stowed away for future use, the street cars and the steam trains took an in-bound burden. The moblized in the section where the white lights have always been wont to burn, great concourses which set their efforts into frantic struggles to get within car shot of white-garbed men who were working furiously before still glittering mirrors.

Those who, by early arrival upon the scene of revel-making had obtained vantage points against polished rail clung to them tenaciously—clung until the swirl of the struggle being waged all about them tore them from their places as the flow of beverages down their throats wilted their powers of resistance.

The sidewalks about the entrances to almost every saloon held pressing crowds clamoring for a place where their demands might be served. The spaces fronting Boston's bars were never designed for such a rush as came last night.

Swarming the streets in the sections where barrooms were most thickly clustered were yelling crowds. Their voices lifted in song and in ribald calls which at the approach to midnight rose to an incessant din.

The closing of the saloons and the closing of the hotels and cafes precipitated something more than boisterousness. It demonstrated how thoroughly those who had made the rounds had carried out their purposes of fortifying themselves against the inundation period of their thirsty era.

The streets began to surge with riotous scenes. Bands of young men, most of them hardly able to keep on their feet, wandered at random defying the efforts of the police to check their inclinations to mischief.

Sidewalk brawls were frequent. In his efforts to subside one of these, Patrolman Thomas Ryan of the Lagrange street station found it necessary to use

LOYD GEORGE TAKES UP REVOLT OF TORIES

LONDON, Monday, June 30.—One of the urgent matters with which Premier Lloyd George has to deal, now that he has returned to England, is the revolt of some 300 tory members of the coalition against what they suspect to be the government's intentions in the field of nationalizing industries. They fear that nationalization of the coal industry will be followed by the adoption of similar measures with railroads and other concerns and are especially agitating the transport bill.

These dissenting members of the house of commons held a meeting today to lay their views before Andrew Bonar Law, government leader of the house who in reply gave an opinion that the question of nationalization was not involved in the transport bill.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

THE STRAND THEATRE

Two very enjoyable photo-plays are being given at the Strand theatre for the first three days of the week. They are "Playthings of Passion" which features Klitty Gordon in the stellar role, and "The Lion's Den," with Bert Lyell in the leading part. In addition there is also a clever comedy of the Bill Parsons variety, current events by the Weekly and very pleasing vocal selections by Miss Harriet Moran, a popular local singer.

The "Lion's Den" deals with a young clergyman who endeavors to provide a club, equipped with all the things a clean-living boy desires, and thus keep the younger members of his congregation from spending their time idly in the pool rooms and on the streets. His efforts to fire the wealthier members of his congregation with his ideals and enthusiasm are futile, so in order to show them that he can accomplish what they refuse to do he enters the "lion's den of commerce" and meets with cruel opposition. He competes with the only grocer in the town and with the assistance of the younger element makes his business a success. In the course of his activities the young clergyman falls in love with the daughter of his competitor and wins her hand. The play is very enjoyable.

"Playthings of Passion" unfolds the story of the pretty young wife of a successful business man, who is given to a fondness for beautiful clothes and who is very indifferent to her husband. She is courted at afternoon bridge parties and evening dances, but her husband objects to all these frivolities. A young clergyman, worker in the slums, comes to ask the husband for financial support in his scheme for uplift. He promises to give every help possible if the clergyman in turn will try to make a responsible woman of his wife. After some time the young woman, who is wrongfully accused informs her husband that she loves the young clergyman, and what follows is very interesting.

The first count in the pony contest at the theatre given last night showed the following to be in the lead: Robt. Carr, Jr., Walter Sheehan, S. McClaughrey, Herbert Crocker, Alice Girard, Hubert Barnes, William O'Brien, Carroll Sullivan, James Bouger, Gladys Pitts, Peggy O'Reilly, Louise Hall, Josephine Farrell and James Douglass. The management of the theatre wishes to announce that a midnight performance will be given July 3.

EVERYBODY'S MEDICINE

Women in Factories

WHEN the roar of the machinery gets on your nerves. WHEN you feel that you must ease up in your work or give up altogether—

SAY to yourself, "I have Anemia. My blood needs food. I will take RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women. They will feed my blood, overcome Anemia, and I will be well and strong again".

AND THIS IS TRUE. Practically every woman suffers at some time with Anemia. It may be when young; it may come at "the change of life"; it may not be felt until old age approaches.

BUT, sooner or later, she will become Anemic. She will suffer with Headaches and Dizziness; with Palpitation and spells of Indigestion; with Nervousness and Backache. There will come days when she will feel "all dragged out", and nights when she cannot sleep. She will grow pale and thin. Then she has Anemia.

THEN she needs RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women.

RED PILLS re-build the nerves, the strength, the vitality, because they re-build the blood. RED PILLS are a blood food, just as beef and bread and milk are body foods. RED PILLS conquer Anemia because they give you pure, rich blood to nourish mind and body.

IF you are not feeling well, and especially if you are pale, thin, tired, nervous—take RED PILLS and get back all your usual vigor, vitality and strength.

MRS. JOSEPH LEVESQUE, 37 Bassett, Fall River, Mass., says: "I was working at the factory all day, and part of the night I was kept busy at the house, for I was the mother of five children, for whom I had to provide.

My health and my strength could not stand such a strain. I became very weak, in fact so weak that I had to remain in bed part of the day; so weak that I was coughing without having any lung trouble. I was three months confined to the house without being able to take up my duties at the factory, as I was under the care of different physicians, when one day, seeing advertisements of the RED PILLS in the newspaper, I started to take them. They helped me quickly and in the right way; brought back my strength, and rid me of my pains. They toned me up and restored my perfect health, and I am thankful for the good they have done me."

CAUTION:—The formula of RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women was first discovered in Paris, in the year of 1870, by a famous French specialist.

They have been largely used in France by French women ever since. American women are now using them with gratifying results for the treatment of Anemia and general debility.

BURY JOHN BARLEYCORN PEACE CELEBRATIONS CONTINUE IN PARIS

Bryan, Riding a Camel, Will Lead Funeral at Columbus, Ohio, Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio, July 1.—Wm. Jennings Bryan will be the chief figure in a celebration of the funeral of John Barleycorn at the Methodist Centenary exposition here today. The funeral procession will be headed by the former secretary of state riding a camel, "the first and original prohibitionist," as Dr. Alonzo Wilson, director of special events at the exposition, once termed the animal. Dr. Wilson's remark is said to have been responsible for the camel being the prohibition party's emblem. An elephant and donkey, representing the old line parties, also will take part in the parade, which will conclude John Barleycorn to his last resting place.

PARIS, Monday, June 30.—Official and popular rejoicings over the conclusion of peace continued tonight, with civilians and soldiers dancing in the streets and a gala reception at the city hall, which was attended by President and Madame Poincare, a number of French generals, public men and allied ambassadors.

The city hall was brilliantly illuminated, as is customary on July 14th, Bastille day, and the square in front of it was black with people long before the president arrived. After the reception four torchlight parades, led by republican guards and bands started from the city hall, followed by immense crowds. Small musical organizations which were pressed into service furnished music for impromptu outdoor balls in different quarters of the city, which were largely attended by American soldiers.

Baron Goto, formerly minister of foreign affairs of Japan, arrived here this evening.

DUTCH TAX KAISER $4800 FOR 3 MONTHS RELIEF WORKERS SAIL FOR NEAR EAST

AMERONGEN, Saturday, July 1. (By the Associated Press)—The former German emperor for the first time in his life has paid taxes, the municipality of Amerongen having levied the ordinary taxation after examining and estimating William Hohenzollern's fortune.

For the first three months of this year the sum levied amounts to 12,000 guilders. (A guilder normally amounts to about 40 cents). This sum, however, was for local taxation. An income tax will be levied separately by the government.

The former emperor was relieved from payment for the first period of his sojourn, as that fell within the previous year. All foreigners, who remain three months in the country are liable for the payment of taxes, the same as natives of Holland.

NEW YORK, July 1.—Twenty-three relief workers sailed for the near east on the steamer Patria today in response to an urgent request for their services by the Armenian and Syrian relief commission in Constantinople.

Dr. Lorin Shephard, a Yale graduate, heads the delegates.

LOWELL PEOPLE CLAIM NEW REMEDY, WELDONA, SIMPLY WONDERFUL

Local Residents Interviewed Say Aches and Pains of Rheumatism Soon Leave After Taking Simple Remedy

Weldona, a new remedy for rheumatism composed of herbs, roots and other medicinal ingredients, has become very popular with Lowell people during the past few months, and it is the same in every city wherever this preparation has been introduced. Many Lowell residents were interviewed in regard to results in long standing cases of rheumatism in the following gave permission to use their names:

Mrs. Mary Taylor of 48 Chestnut street, Lowell, said: "I had rheumatism about forty-five years in my back, hands and right foot. Naturally I tried all kinds of medicines and doctors and had often been in hospitals, but got no relief. My back was so bad that when I would bend down I could be unable to straighten up. My hips and knees were also very bad and troubled me to go up or down stairs. I read about this Weldona and had only taken this medicine about ten days when I saw it was helping me. I am now able to bend now and feel 100% better. There is no alcohol in Weldona and it didn't make me dizzy or sick as other medicines have. I tried all other medicines and have only taken a little more than three packages, but can now get around fine. I now go down stairs and do not worry about getting back. It's wonderful after everything else failed, how Weldona helped me."

Many others were interviewed and all gave the same story of how they were benefited after ordinary remedies failed.

Weldona is composed of herbs, roots and other medicinal ingredients which tend to drive rheumatism from the system. Weldona does not contain alcohol, narcotics, opiates or habit-forming drugs, and tends to help the stomach and build the system up.

"QUALITY CIRCULATION"
Mr. Advertiser, when a solicitor has at some time tried to sell you service through circulating your commercial message in the paper he represents, have you asked him to demonstrate what the "quality of his circulation" is?
It is a pertinent and worth while query. In this respect you have a right to know about the kind of a circulation your ad gets when you entrust it to The Sun. What the Sun's "circulation quality" is.
Is the newspaper clean, honest, fair and reliable? A newspaper has not finished its task when it publishes an advertisement or a news article because it is expected to go still farther and give its constituency community service—service for the uplift and improvement of the community—and in this The Sun has in the past and is now, functioning 100 per cent efficient.
The reflection of this is seen in the number of copies circulated, over 20,000 average and with steady growth maintained. Quality circulation is having a paper respected and cordially received in the home. Quality circulation is worth while and you get it when you circulate your ad in

There seems to be a conflict of opinion relative to the request of the high school commission for authority to borrow $1,500,000 outside the debt limit to be expended in addition to the amount already available which would bring the total appropriation for land and building up to $2,200,000.
On the face of it, this seems to be an extravagant amount and the legislative committee as well as our most thoughtful citizens are justified in their expressions of amazement at the request for so large a sum for what is merely an addition to our present high school.
The most surprising thing in regard to this high school problem is, that those in charge of the business did not first call for estimates on the present plans before guessing or fixing at random the sum supposed to be necessary for the construction of the building. Had they done so, they would have secured a definite and reliable estimate as to what the complete cost of the building would be. If this were too high, then the plans should be modified so that the cost might come within what would be considered reasonable for adequately meeting the high school needs of our city.
When we speak of calling for bids we mean honest, bona fide bids either on the general contract or on the various sub-contracts combined so that the commission in charge might reach a definite conclusion as to the total cost. This, if done in a businesslike way, might be a revelation to some people who cannot get it out of their heads that the proposed addition to our high school must of necessity be an extremely elaborate and expensive structure. We do not believe that a suitable addition to the high school should cost anything like a million dollars for the building alone.
If we are properly informed, a building such as required can be constructed for a great deal less and in a manner that will meet all the requirements of the situation both as to accommodation and architectural effects. There are reputable architects in Lowell and outside of Lowell who have declared that they can design and supervise the construction of an addition to our high school fully as large as at present contemplated yet well within a million dollars for the building above ground.
There are schools going up in several cities of the state that do not cost nearly as much per cubic foot or per room of like dimension as some people think we must pay under the present plans for the high school addition.
It seems strange that no one so far as we can learn, has been able to ascertain the number of cubic feet in the proposed high school addition. The content has been estimated all the way from 2,000,000 to 3,000,000 cubic feet. Now if we take the larger estimate, which is probably excessive, and compute the average cost per cubic foot for similar schools throughout the state, even at the present high price of labor and material, we shall find that there is no just ground for setting the total expense at such a high figure as that indicated in the petition to the legislature.
Contractors who know that they are talking about, say that a high school building of this character can be built and furnished at an expense as low as from 25 to 30 cents per cubic foot. Assuming that there are 3,000,000 cubic feet in the proposed structure, the cost at this rate would be from $750,000 to $900,000. We have heard of no estimate from reliable sources that would exceed this amount.
If the legislative committee should vote to give the high school commission the right to borrow $750,000, this sum in addition to the $400,000 now available, together with the expenditures already incurred for site, plans and steel would make a total for building and site of about $1,150,000. It will be admitted that any city however large would consider this a very liberal sum to spend upon an addition to a high school.
The city of Boston at the present time is preparing to build a new Latin high school at a total cost of $700,000.
With the $750,000 to be borrowed and the $400,000 available, it would seem that the commission should be able to erect a structure that would meet all the requirements of the city for high school purposes for many years to come, particularly since it appears that the cost of the building above ground should not exceed $800,000, or at the extreme limit $900,000.
For this reason, we would again urge that the high school commission secure honest and practical estimates of the cost of a building such as it requires and such as contemplated under the plans already drafted, before fixing the appropriation at an amount which the taxpayers with fair minded contractors and architects alike, very justly pronounce as recklessly extravagant.

THE BARTENDER
Now that it is all over or about all over, let us say something good and truthful about the bartender.
As an institution he existed in the supply of a demand.
He did not create the demand—he was pretty much like other clerks and salesmen and even though what he supplied had a negative effect upon those he served.
The bartender was always courteous. If he was not courteous he did not remain a bartender very long. He was a good fellow when those he served demanded good fellowship.
The bartender saw humanity at its best and worst. He was often bored to extinction by the talk of some that he served, and he had to use infinite tact and patience with others when they were in their cups.
Bartenders as a rule were not drunkards; they were about like other men in other lines and who found that they could not do their work and hold their jobs in a semi-intoxicated state; and the best of them, through horrible example no doubt, did not drink at all.
All those whom the bartenders served were not drunkards—in fact a very large majority of them were not. The drunkard or a down-and-out was never a desirable patron, and even though the saloon as an institution may have been responsible for his state.
Drunkards always have had a way of getting drunk in one saloon and then going into another and exhibiting themselves and their state. A very large number of those whom the bartender served were prosperous, intelligent, some were even learned, and not infrequently men of large affairs.
The bartender came in intimate and frequent contact with these, always to a point of acquaintance, and often to actual friendship.
The preference and wages of a bartender by a saloon proprietor were frequently a matter of the bar-tender's acquaintance or the amount of trade that he could attract to a place.

The bartender has two assets that would ably fit him for numberless lines of business.
One is his courtesy, the other is his acquaintance and his ability to make acquaintances.
In a good many of the large cities that have been dry for a year or more, ex-bartenders in better class places were actually sought by life insurance and the larger real estate agencies as salesmen, and largely by reason of their acquaintance.
Then again by reason of their acquaintance, courtesy and dexterity in handling glasses and drink mixing devices, the down-town drug stores and other places with large soda trade are finding it more profitable to employ ex-bartenders at a higher wage than persons of less experience, that the ex-bartender can handle the trade faster, with greater efficiency and satisfaction.
It is our guess that after a very short period of readjustment, the bartender will find himself in much higher service of society, and with a much larger degree of prosperity to himself than in the occupation of his enforced abandonment.

IRELAND'S DEMANDS
The Sunday demonstration at Boston in favor of the Irish republic was perhaps the greatest of the kind ever held in that city. The enthusiasm of the people was buoyed up to a high pitch, equal to that which was felt in the old Fenian days, in the days of Gladstone when home rule was enacted by the house of commons or in the days of Parnell or still later of Redmond when home rule was actually placed on the statute book and then pulled back because a few men in Ulster and one or two military generals objected to it going into effect. England would almost as willingly part with the city of London as lose Ireland; but the demonstrations now being held in support of the Irish republic must convince her of one thing, to wit, that she cannot maintain friendly relations with the United States while she refuses the rights of the Irish people to control their own destinies. But in view of recent events, it may soon dawn upon British statesmen that the best interests of the empire at home and abroad will be served by doing justice to Ireland in some form of national freedom.
Prof. Alexander Graham Bell says he has successfully conducted experiments with a refrigerating plant for homes as the result of which he was able to secure a temperature for one room in his Washington home of 65 degrees. He conducted cold air through an asbestos covered pipe from a big ice chest to the room in question. Here was a case in point where most of us will conclude an inventor really got busy on a worth while problem.

We have had June weddings, June graduations, college reunions and we're about ready for genuine rest but this week has its cares and perils too. We have to assist at the reception to a strange visitor already named Bone Dry and the Fourth of July list of accidents may have space for your name or mine.
"What is that long line of trucks with armed guards waiting on the outskirts of Toledo for?" "Why those are the conveyances into which Tex Rickard's championship fight receipts will be loaded and carted off on the evening of July 4th."
Charitably or otherwise, when people in general read that Von Bethmann-Hollweg has volunteered to take responsibility for deeds previously credited to the kaiser, they will ejaculate, "Another German fool," and take no more account of it.
Several Lowell people have enjoyed green peas and new potatoes as early as last Sunday although the time honored date is of course on the Fourth. The backyard gardener is apt to take the prize as a producer of early garden stuff.
Today is National Buttermilk Day. Have you observed it in the spirit? Not in spirits of course, for malt and vinous spirits went on a holiday yesterday. Buttermilk is a great drink and you won't have lost out if you give your stomach this treat.
Will prudish and staid women newspaper readers blush and feel they are in the wrong place when they read that former Secretary McAdoo told President-elect Pessoa that Uncle Sam is Miss Brazil's North American affinity?
W. J. R. is of course interested in the new turn of affairs.

DE VALERA AT STATE HOUSE
President of Irish Republic Given a Warm Greeting
Tells Legislators World Must Recognize Majority's Rights

BOSTON, July 1.—Eamon De Valera, president of the Irish republic, yesterday was received at the state house, the Cambridge city hall and at Manchester, N. H., with demonstrations which in their warmth closely approached the greeting given him at Fenway park on Sunday, when approximately 60,000 cheered him as the "Lion of Ireland."
His reception at the state house was unprecedented in many of its features, the flag of the Irish republic being waved and members and crowded galleries cheering. State officials who have been long in office declared that never in their memory was such an ovation given a visiting dignitary.
In his speech in the house chamber, Prof. De Valera was vigorously applauded when he said: "There is no question of Ireland's secession. If a young lady were carried into the hall of a Turkish chief and she tried to get release, would you call it a trial for divorce?"
Shortly after the house convened, at 1 p. m., Mr. Hays of Brighton offered an order inviting the senate to be present in a body at the reception to the president of the Irish republic in the house chamber. It was immediately adopted.
The distinguished visitor entered the state house at 2.45, and upon being escorted into the chamber was greeted with a tumult of cheers. Representative Milard of East Boston waved the flag of the Irish republic, and cheers for the now republic were led by Representative Mellen of Charlestown.
Escorted by a committee headed by Representative Maloney of Chelsea, Prof. De Valera took a place on the speaker's rostrum.
Introduced by Warner
Speaker Warner, introducing the Irish leader, said:
"No state in our union can lay claim to a larger percentage of those whose forebears were nurtured in the Emerald Isle than this same old Bay State. Massachusetts is proud of her Irish sons and Irish daughters. They are stalwart and loyal Americans, and much have they done and much are they doing to promote the glory of industrial and civic Massachusetts."
"So, it is indeed a pleasure for me, on your behalf, to welcome one who, although born in these United States, has yet identified himself with a cause dear to the hearts and souls of every one who respects, loves and cherishes the green little isle overseas."
"I present to you your guest, the Hon. Eamon De Valera."
Prof. De Valera began his address by expressing regret that time had not permitted him to prepare the case for Ireland as it deserved to be prepared.
"It has been the device of the enemies of Ireland," said he, "to make it appear that this Irish case of ours is a complicated case, that there is something extraordinarily difficult and delicate about it. I say that this is not true, and I hope to convince you that."

A very little woman is often at the bottom of a very big fuss.
The vegetable liar will soon be in his glory. "Yes, I had green peas."
In the bone dry regime another contribution to our having a Safe and Sane Fourth?
"What is a team room?" asked a visitor and the echo answered: "That is a place where the help commit suicide by going out and eating a square meal."
Someone ought to start a campaign against the boob in the ticket office who tells you the last train leaves at 6 o'clock when it really pulls out at 5.45.
A friend "dropped out of an airship" to remark that lawyers would make good soldiers, basing his remark on the fact that they are so often seen in the front lines.

Bowel Poison
Thousands of Men and Women Poisoned and Don't Know It.
HOW TO FIND OUT
Bowel poison means blood tainted by fowl secretion absorbed from the bowels. Here are the symptoms:
If your skin is disfigured by eruptions, humors, pimples, blotches, sores or eczema; if you itch and burn and your skin is itchy and rough; if you feel tired and worn out, your nerves weak, constipated, cross and depressed; if your head feels heavy and aching, your eyes blur and specks float across your vision, if you have cold feet, and your hands get sweaty and sticky—if you have these danger signals they point unerringly to bowel poison, impure blood, and show that your stomach, liver and bowels are not working right.
Dr. Grady's Tablets are what you must have to make your bowels right; they will remove the impurities from your system, naturally and regularly. They cleanse and invigorate the blood by stimulating the sluggish liver and regulating the bowels by their gentle laxative action. They are a sure and unfailing cure for bowel poison in young or old.
Dr. Grady's Tablets cure constipation, biliousness and headache in one night, 10 cents, all drug stores.—A.B.

Prepared for the Future
It was at the door of a store which had advertised exceptional bargains for that day, in the jam, that Mrs. Blank saw Mrs. Brown and rushed to shake hands with her and say: "O, Mrs. Brown, are you here?" "Yes, I am here, but I did not expect to meet you."
"Why, you see, I am going to join the new league and I am getting ready for it."
"Is it the women's league where you pledge ourselves not to buy a hat or a garment costing more than $10?"
"Yes, that is the one and I am going to join it too. I am getting ready for it."
And they entered the store together and each bought a dress marked down from $50 to $18, and $20 hats and coats that cost over $60 each. They went out feeling that they could stand by their pledge.—James-town Post.

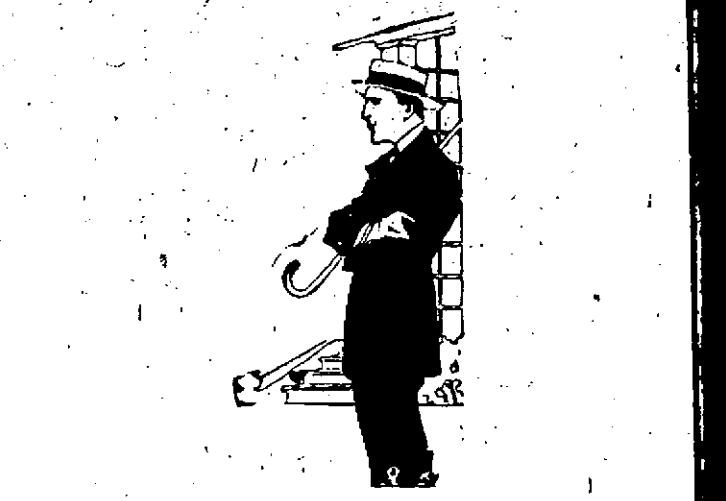

By O. B. Joyful
Dog days, scientists say, start July 3 and end August 11. But on the other hand, any boy will tell you that dog days are all non-school days. Once the world used to think dog days were responsible for the extreme hot weather, and blamed the dog star (Sirius) for the heat. Astronomers have learned, however, it just happens that the dog star rises with the sun. Toward star always did rise in the morning with the sun, and it never made it any warmer for the sun only when the pup tracked up the clean kitchen floor just after mother had scrubbed it. In times, some centuries off, the dog star would rise in midwinter, and no doubt dog days then will get the credit for the extreme cold of January.
A dog turns around several times before lying down because he had to do that in his wild animal days to be sure he wasn't making a bed on a slumbering porcupine. And, besides, one good turn deserves another.

The Merry-Go-Round
Have you ever seen lots on a merry-go-round.
And some rode it merrily, very, And some were as sober as if they had found.
That a merry-go-round isn't merry! Looking at life, I am willing to say, That people go riding it much the same way.
Breakfast-and-dinner-and-supper-and-bed.
Is the merry-go-round of the day, And some ride in the round in a spirit of dread.
And some in a spirit of play. Some rise with a shout and go singing to rest.
Add some say the merry-go-round is a pest.
The music grinds out of the merry-go-round.
For a dance or a dirge, or a croon, For 'tis more of a feeling and less of a sound.
As the rider interprets the tune. Some say it reminds them of primitive joys.
And some think it merely a hideous noise.
Birth, breath and burying, so runs the wheel.
And so runs it wobbly or well.
And whether a treadmill or automobile.
Or whether a gay carousel.
Depends not so much on the wheel as it glides.
As it does on the soul of the rider who rides.

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN
In these days of high cost of everything there are two things to be grateful for: post cards again sell for a penny each and it now costs only two cents to send a letter, even a dun or a billet doux. The saving to business firms where it is no uncommon thing to send out a couple of hundred letters a day, is of course considerable.
I have asked a number of people if they were going to the Willard-Dempsey argument and so far I fail to get any affirmative answers. Failing in this, I asked a number of my friends if they knew any one who was going.
In answer to a reader who writes, for information relative to Camp Devens, we print the following information. It was named for General Devens of Civil war fame, a noted leader on the Union side. Camp Devens is situated in the town of Ayer but to establish it, land had to be taken from about six towns, including Ayer. From Ayer railroad station to the "first gate," so called, it is about three-quarters of a mile. The cantonment itself is about eight miles from Lowell. To get to the maximum number of troops in its confines at one time it may be said that the first division trained at Camp Devens was perhaps as large as any. It was called the 16th Division, was mustered to the colors in the summer of 1917 and had between 35,000 and 40,000 men. This division started overseas in midsummer of 1918.

It is not true. The Irish case is a simple one. It is simply this—that Ireland has a right to her liberty and that Ireland demands it.

"It is not for us to prove Ireland's case for liberty and certainly it is not for me in this legislature here to prove Ireland's case for liberty. It is an axiom, and it is particularly an axiom after you have proved Ireland's case through the work of Adams and Hancock, for the world has accepted that proof. It is rather for those who deny us liberty to come along and say why it should be denied.

Refers to Easter Week

"Shall the peoples of the earth, as your president asked, be dominated even in their own affairs by powerful and irresponsible forces, or by their own will and choice? Let me remind you that 73 members out of 105 were chosen in Ireland at the elections on the direct issue of the establishment of the republic, and they were chosen for the express purpose of ratifying the republic.

"And the men of Easter week—the men who in Easter week waved the flag of the republic and attempted to drive out the English forces—selected their president and their cabinet, and I am the responsible head of that cabinet and the responsible head of the only legitimate government there is in Ireland. If England withdrew her forces there is scarcely a man, woman or child in Ireland who would not willingly embrace the republic and become obedient citizens of it."

"Why, then, are we denied the liberty we seek? Why is the will of the Irish people not recognized? Simply because it is to the interest of England, for the sake of her own selfish materialism, to keep us in subjection, to be exploited by her.

"I should be glad to have the members ask me questions on any points which are not clear to them in the Irish case; it would put me in the witness box, and I am ready for it. But the speaker tells me that as there are so many here it would take too long.

"You have all noticed the word 'secession' applied to this movement of ours to gain independence. Now that word is not justified in our case. Secession implies not a union such as England has forced upon us, but a voluntary union, and there is no comparison whatever between the action of the southern states trying to get out of your union and the action of Ireland trying to get out of the forced union with England. Study the history of that union, and you will see at once the truth of what Gladstone and other great Englishmen said of it—that it was a union procured by fraud and violence and therefore a union that was a nullity.

Never Accepted By Ireland

"The proof that it has never been accepted by the Irish people or consented to by them is seen in the fact that for the last 100 years during which it has been in operation there have been three or four attempts at armed insurrection; Emmett's was one, there was an attempt in 1845, one in 1867 and another in 1916. And the whole of the time during that century England governed Ireland by a system of oppression, by a denial of the rights of the people, and passed no fewer than 100 coercion acts. Ireland was governed by men of the type of Andros, and the oppression against which America arose has been continually in force in Ireland. I think you will all realize that it is a false application of your case to say that our movement is but a secession.

"A great deal is made of the point that Irishmen do not agree among themselves. I say in reply that there is as much substantial agreement and unity in Ireland as will be found in any nation on the earth. If we want to be careful about elections we generally specify a two-to-one majority or a three-to-one majority. America would recognize tomorrow a two-to-one or a three-to-one majority on a plebiscite, and we can have it. There is substantial unanimity in Ireland.

"It is pretended, when they talk of the Ulster question, that the province of Ulster is opposed to a republic. Yet when you speak of the Ulster question that means a small fraction of Ulster, not half of Ulster, a matter of four counties in Ireland where the opponents of a republic are in a majority. The ideal democracy contends that majorities must rule. I hold that minorities have their rights, and that when a minority is nervous or anxious about its rights being interfered with it has the right to look for guarantees to the majority. But it has no right to impose or try to impose a permanent veto on the will of the majority.

Not a Religious Question

"It is pretended that this question is a religious question. I deny it. There is no question of religious differences dividing us in Ireland. It happens that the majority of that minority are Protestants; it happens that the majority or our majority are Catholics. But there is surely nobody going to say that they are back in the old days of religious prejudice. That would have died all over the world were it not England's special interest to keep it alive. England has quite continually, by all the artifices and could command, tried to keep it alive in Ireland, but I am happy to tell you that she has not succeeded.

"We are getting more and more to regard ourselves as brothers, with a common country to love and a common country to serve. The proclamation of the Irish republic guarantees equality of rights without consideration of party, class or religion to every citizen of the Irish nation. The men who led at Bunker Hill died believing that the men who came after them would work for their ideals and bring them to fruition. You would not sacrifice what they did on the demand of a minority. We also feel that we are trustees of the men who preceded us, and because of that we cannot accept the terms of this minority, namely, that we should become subject to a part of Ireland."

BUY YOUR SHOES FOR FALL AT ONCE BUY THEM NOW

It makes no difference to us where you trade, if you can spare the money, put in a pair of good shoes this week. Good shoes are bound to sell at from TWO DOLLARS TO FIVE DOLLARS THIS FALL MORE THAN YOU CAN BUY THEM FOR TODAY. Shoes that we used to buy for $2.60, $2.75 and $2.85 a pair cost us today $9.50 A PAIR WHOLESALE. Educator shoes for children cost us today THREE TIMES as much as they used to. We want to be fair with our customers and we want to protect them from extreme high prices, that's why we give you this advice. We know of one incident right in Lowell where a buyer took a few days to "think it over" when he was given a price on his fall order. When he went back to accept the price he found they had advanced the price about two dollars a pair. That goes to show that delays are very costly these days.

Saturday we had a customer in our store who had just paid six dollars for a pair of McKay sewed oxfords. Why, we used to sell BETTER SHOES for two dollars a pair. Read the advertisements in your local papers. Why, only a few days ago we saw white canvas oxfords advertised at seven dollars a pair. Think of it! Shoes made of cloth, low shoes at that, seven dollars a pair. Good vic kid leather today sells at $1.50 a square foot—it takes from three to four feet for the uppers of a pair of shoes—don't you think nine or ten dollars for a pair of high shoes, made of leather, is reasonable if shoes with the uppers made of cotton cloth are worth seven dollars? We are selling high grade shoes at fair prices and

WE CAN SAVE YOU FROM TWO TO FIVE DOLLARS ON A PAIR OF SHOES IF YOU BUY THEM AT ONCE. DON'T DELAY! DO IT NOW!

Spindle City Folk Shed No

Good Fun Lacking Disorder
Marks Birth of Bone Dry
Regime in This City

With the eleventh stroke of the gong having registered itself clearly and unmistakably last night so that liquor buyers and liquor sellers could know the barrier had been put up against the legalized sale of it, Lowell people having an interest in the different phases of liquor, today were settling back and concluding that the question of the ban being lifted and the drought, broken, is becoming one connected with numbers and the connection of numbers with demobilization.

When demobilization is over, the ban may perhaps be lifted. But when will demobilization be completed? President Wilson has said the American army overseas and at home at present consists of a million men. Congress has tentatively agreed that for the present the peace time army should be maintained at about 350,000 men. Transports may be said to be arriving every day at Atlantic coast ports. Every arriving transport can give the liquor dealers courage as to the increasing nearness of the date when they can reopen their places of business. Every transport arriving means its "load" will almost immediately be demobilized and incidentally be a contribution to shortening the dry era.

While this may be the conclusion thousands of Lowell people have today reached, the fact remains that yesterday furnished the day in which the largest amount of liquor of all kinds was ever sold in this city. As was stated in "The Sun" yesterday, Lowell was destined to be the liquor shopping centre for a large section of southern New Hampshire and the sale of hundreds of New Hampshire autoists who came here late yesterday afternoon and made extensive purchases of liquor, interested Lowell people. The report had it that starting back after dark they were due to find all the interstate roads watched by liquor deputies who were openly on duty with red lanterns and it was humorously enough an occasion when, "There's a red light on the track for Boozer Brown," indeed.

One of the surprises of the evening—the time when the picturesqueness of the exit of J. Barleycorn was supposed to be at its height—was that no disorder or hilarity was to be seen in the downtown business section. Up to 11 p. m. last night, the police department, although augmented in the number of men doing night duty, had found only three men carrying their liquor so badly that it was deemed necessary to put them in durance. Only one woman was arrested for intoxication and there may be scant sympathy for her. She was registered as being 45 years old and presumably old enough

JACK LIKES WATERMELON!
Jack Dempsey had a birthday in Toledo, and admirers gave him a watermelon with "Happy Birthday" neatly lettered on it with a knife. Dempsey's here shown preparing to slice the melon. He is telling Betty Brown, N.E.A. feature writer for "The Sun," how nice he's being treated.

Lowell, as is well known, has a number of clubs where liquor has been allowed to be sold and last evening was a festive one for most of these places. Along about 9 or 10 o'clock in one or two of the clubs, informal and impromptu auctions were held at which the small remaining stocks of liquor were "auctioned" off to various club members. Bargains were rare for if a member showed by his bidding he was anxious to secure a particular bottle of liquor, his fellow members took great delight in running up the price on him. It is safe to say that Lowell clubs today have only sufficient liquor on hand to be used in cases of rare emergency, such as members suffering snake bite or drowning.

The "wine stores" came under the head of the fourth class liquor licenses. They did the biggest business in their history yesterday.

There is of course a question arising about this phase of the liquor business: Supposing that Bill Jones, fourth class liquor dealer, closed up his business last night at 11 and still had a stock of liquors on hand. Supposing that conditions come about so that he is permitted to sell again in two months from today, who checks up on him to find out if he has been clandestinely "distributing" during the dry spell?

To this question it may be answered that no liquor seller experienced at the business and with a good record as observing the law, wants to get himself in wrong with the federal authorities. For him to illegally get rid of his left over stock, or any part of it, would invite just such a calamity and would automatically prevent him from resuming his business when it becomes legalized again. The question may be asked as to whether the wine store man can quietly buy in more wet goods from his jobber and conceal the condition of what he had on hand when he stopped selling last night and what he has when he is allowed to resume? He cannot do this. Uncle Sam has ordered the sale of liquor stopped in all ways and the wholesaler is hit in his business just as hard as the retailer.

One of the remarkable things in connection with the stopping of the liquor traffic, as was seen last night in Lowell, was the fact that there was so little growling and fault finding over the withdrawal from sale of liquor. Confirmed users of liquor even, seemed inclined to regard it as a joke and being reminded that they had often been heard to say they could "take a drink or let it alone," they answered "I should worry," but showed no signs of doing any worrying. For which there may be reasons.

WILLARD-DEMPSEY BOUT

Fighters Will Enter Ring
With Bare Hands—All Taping in View of Spectators

TOLEDO, July 1.—Jess Willard and Jack Dempsey will go into the ring Friday with bare hands and bandaging and taping will be done in view of the spectators. This announcement was made today by Tex Rickard.

The decision to request the "boxers" to bandage their hands in the ring is regarded as a victory for Willard, who protected against Dempsey's plans to adjust the tape and bandages on his hands while in the dressing room. Willard said that he would insist upon a thin layer of cotton surgical bandage, and only enough tape to hold the bandages in place. The boxers will wear specially made five ounce gloves and each will be allowed to have five seconds in their corners, including the manager or adviser.

Airplanes to Take Pictures
Preparations are being made to report the contest on a scale exceeding anything of the kind at previous ring battles. Writers from all parts of the country and Canada are present or en route and hundreds of seats have been reserved for them. More than 50 wires will be set up at the ringside to carry reports to all parts of the country and to cable points for European service. From low-flying airplanes photographers will take pictures of the fighters in action and the scenes in and around the arena. Immediately the contest is finished several of these planes plan non-stop flights to Chicago and New York in order that the photographs may be available for reproduction in Saturday papers. The most ambitious one is a scheme to fly with pictures to the Pacific coast in two relays.

The movie men will occupy a platform erected atop a high steel tubular column from which they can film the ring and every portion of the stadium.

EXPERT PICKED AS ALTERNATE REFEREE
(Special to The Sun)
This is the sixth of a series of articles on the champion-challenger fray, written by the peerless author of "How the Eskimo Firemen Fight Fires With Steam-heated Icebergs."—Editor's note.

TOLEDO, O., July 1.—Well, as far as the fight is concerned, everything is all settled now, except as to who'll win, and the question of tearing down the arena when it's all over. I've been picked as 12th alternate referee! That means I will be 11th assistant to the chief milt arbitrator. In case something should happen to the boss referee in the first round, such as accidentally steering his dial in the direction of one or both fighters' wallop, and ditto for the other alternate referees down to the 11th round, then it will be my turn. My first duty will be to count the 11th referee out. Then I will caution the fighters to try and hit one another for a change, as much as possible, on account of it being the last round, and as the patrons are waiting for my decision to see who wins. A lot of weight may fall on my shoulders in that round. Should both men land on one another for a K. O., I will have to count up to 20, and the championship title will be in my care. In that event I will confer it upon Sergt. York! Gene Abern.

The Call-em

Seldom has Lowell had the opportunity to anticipate such a varied program of sports as is scheduled for the coming glorious Fourth. Baseball, swimming, boxing and horse racing are on the card, variation enough to satisfy the most fickle sport follower.

All Fall For Kibby
One by one the best boys of New England are falling before the hard-hitting Tommy Corcoran (Young Kibby). Harry Carlson was supposed to be a hand-picked opponent. The Brockton boy was not handicapped by weight allowances and was known to be at his best when entering the ring at his own figure, but he too felt the sting of the Lawrence man's smashes and lost the decision. He stayed the limit but it was tough sledding. Lawrence fans would have liked to have witnessed another knockout, for they bet on that outcome, but they still are ahead of the game by several leaps.

Tyler May Move Again
The New York Sun says: "If the temperamental Dave Robertson, now consigned to Norfolk, Va., will consent to play the outfield for the Cubs we will see George Tyler pitching for the Giants. We hear that trade has been rigged up by McGraw and Mitchell, and that Tyler's transfer to the New York club is being held up pending McGraw's furnishing Mitchell with proof that Robertson will play with Chicago. Tyler is a left hander and McGraw needs another pitcher of that persuasion very badly. While Tyler hasn't done very much for the Cubs this season he is coming around pretty well and in a week or so will be ready to take his regular turn. For a team that hopes to win the National League pennant Chicago has an outfield which is decidedly disappointing. Max Black is the only outfielder who is hitting and he is going at .238, leading the whole Cub outfit with the bat. Les Mann is hitting only .191 and Dotsie Faskert, the sensation of 1918, is down to a measly .161. No matter how badly Robertson went he would be far more effective than either Mann or Faskert now. Mitchell is hot on Dave's trail."

Let's Go From Here!
Things seem to be perking up around the New England center ring from an attendance standpoint. All clubs are playing good baseball. A slipshod game slips in now and then, but take it all in all, it is a satisfactory brand. Lewiston, Portland, Haverhill and Fitchburg are playing to fine crowds and increases have been noted in Lowell and Lawrence. The city and Lawrence, however, are still far behind and it shouldn't be so. Lowell is almost twice as large as Fitchburg, the city is represented by a better ball club and the fans should support it. In Weaver, Eckstein, Baker and Bossie Lowell has a quartet of hummers.

"GOT TO MAKE LIVING SOME WAY" JESS TELLS FANS
It isn't often the photographer gets a chance to catch Jess Willard, heavyweight champion, in such a pose. Jess is kidding the crowd at the ringside in Toledo. He's feeling exceptionally good this particular afternoon. After much banter had passed back and forth, Jess said, "Well, I've got to make a living somehow." It was just after he had flattened out one of his sparring partners.

BIG POLICE CHIEF GETS BIG SURPRISE
Supt. Welch has been a permanent passenger on the water wagon for many long years, and he didn't deviate a bit from his usual beverages last evening. But when he picked up the first letter in his morning mail today he rubbed his eyes, pinched himself two or three times and wondered if perhaps he wasn't seeing things that ain't. Yes, the chief sure did get a shock for inside of this self-same envelope he drew out postal savings certificates totalling $115, and a bankbook with deposits amounting to $1000, both of which are alleged to have been stolen from Abdelman Abdelal of Middlesex street on June 23 by Thomas Murray, alias Babrowsky, of Dracut, who is now held in $5000 bonds for trial tomorrow.

To make the matter even more mystifying to the chief, no message was contained in the letter, which had been mailed at the local postoffice, and the chief is at a loss as to the identity of his anonymous correspondent. But he's going to do his darndest to find out immediately—there's no doubt about that.

Murray or Babrowsky, whatever his real name is, was arrested June 23 on a charge of breaking and entering the room of Abdelal on Middlesex street and stealing postal certificates valued at $1000; cash amounting to $415, two bankbooks with deposits totalling $1000 each, and various articles of clothing. One bankbook and certificates amounting to $555 were recovered at the time, and with the missing bankbook and certificates now in the hands of the chief, the cash and clothing are all that remain unaccounted for.

SPEEDY RATIFICATION OF TREATY EXPECTED

PARIS, July 1 (Havas).—Speedy ratification of the peace treaty with Germany by three of the great powers whose ratification, together with that of Germany, is necessary to make the treaty effective, is anticipated by the French press. The only delays of any appreciable length expected are in the case of Italy, where difficult national problems are taking precedence, and the United States, where the newspapers forecast a prolonged discussion in the senate.

Japan, it is anticipated, will expedite the ratification process. (With Great Britain and France, the ratification of the treaty with Japan would be all that would be necessary to put the treaty into effect for these powers and Germany, given favorable action by the German national assembly.)

There is no change in second class postal rates.

Keep Longer Than the Products From Other Creameries.

Every quart of milk used in this creamery comes to us fresh daily—all from the farms within a radius of 15 miles of Lowell. This is fresh when it reaches us; it has no long railroad trip with stops at various stations. We manufacture it into creamery products immediately. "Meats in Storage"

Every working day of the year 75,000,000 pounds of meat are required to supply home and export needs—and only 10 per cent of this is exported.

These facts must be kept in mind when considering the U. S. Bureau of Markets report that on June 1, 1919, there were 1,348,000,000 pounds of meats in cold storage. If the meat in storage was placed on the market it would only be 20 days' supply.

This meat is not artificially withheld from trade channels to maintain or advance prices.

Meats in storage consist of—

- 65 per cent (approximate) hams, bacon, etc., in process of curing. It takes 30 to 90 days in pickle or salt to complete the process.
- 10 per cent is frozen pork that is to be cured later in the year.
- 6 per cent is lard. This is only four-fifths of a pound per capita, and much of it will have to go to supply European needs.
- 19 per cent is frozen beef and lamb, part of which is owned by the Government and was intended chiefly for over-seas shipment. If this were all diverted to domestic trade channels, it would be only 1 1/4 lbs. per capita—a 3 days' supply.

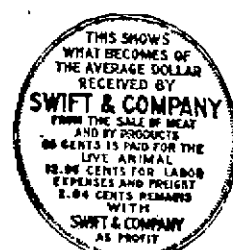

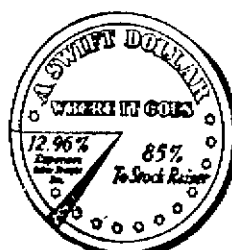

100%

From this it will be seen that "meats in storage" represent merely unfinished goods in process of curing and the working supply necessary to assure the consumer a steady flow of finished product.

JESS WILLARD KNOCKED OUT

N.E.A. Special to The Sun

FORT COBE, Okla. —The statement that Jess Willard has never been knocked out is untrue. There lives in Albert, a small town a few miles from here, the man who did it. He isn't regarded as the heavyweight champion today because he whipped Jess before the latter was champion and he whipped him in a contest that was not held under Marquis of Queensberry rules.

But Jess was knocked out cleanly and he had enough. There was no nurse up. It was sort of a punitive expedition on the part of the victor.

The winner of the scrap was John Willard, eldest brother of the champion. He whipped Jess because the latter wanted to smoke half a box of cigars.

John had a pony and Jess, at seventeen, was somewhat of a jockey. He rode the pony to first place in a race and won a box of cigars. He contended he was entitled to half the cigars. John however, after a short futile argument, convinced him he was not. It was a right hook that put Jess to sleep on the green. Jess doesn't smoke.

John still chuckles over the fight. He was somewhat bigger than Jess then. He was grown—5 feet 4 inches and weighed 190 pounds.

But it turned out as it usually does—the pugilist has surpassed the teacher. John taught Jess the first rudiments of the boxing game. He started him off as a jockey but Jess grew too big. He also tried to teach him to farm, but Jess didn't prove adept.

Brother John is quite a substantial citizen of Caddo county. He is president of the Farmers' Educational and Co-operative Union of America. He's a strong rooter for Jess. He thinks Dempsey has tackled too good a man this time—that Jess has the size, strength and science to stop any man.

It'll be about the seventh round says John—meaning Dempsey will take a flop about that time.

John took great interest in a series of "fighting faces" of Dempsey, published in the Oklahoma City News.

He said they were made to register "wonder, surprise, fear, hate and pain." John said there should have been another one showing Jack asleep.

Jess Willard as he was when he won that pony race and (below) his brother John, the only man who ever K. O'd Jess.

Journal and was delayed here. A flagman was sent back to protect the rear. It is claimed, but the Westerner, approaching at 45 to 50 miles an hour, did not check its speed perceptibly as it rushed into the Dunkirk yards, witnesses say.

The coaches of number 41 were all of steel. The rear of the last coach was badly battered as number 7's engine ploughed into it but the body remained intact, although it was overturned and twisted at right angles with the rails. Three other coaches of number 41 were also battered and pushed off the rails but remained upright.

Boiler Explosion
The tender of the engine of the Westerner buckled back through a wooden express car. Lifted slightly by the wreckage of this car the engine and tender then crashed down into a steel day coach, the first passenger car of the train. It was here that all the fatalities occurred. The boiler of the Westerner's engine exploded, fatally scalding Engineer Clifford and Fireman S. Toltz.

Next to the day coach on the Westerner was a sleeper. It, too, was partially wrecked and turned over into Third Street, which parallels the tracks. Many of the injured were taken from this sleeper.

Tramp Blamed for Tragedy

WASHINGTON, July 1.—An unidentified tramp, killed in the New York Central railroad wreck at Dunkirk, according to reports to the railroad administration, was probably the cause of the tragedy. The mechanism controlling the flow of air from the locomotive to the brakes on the train was found shut off at the place where the tramp was riding.

MIDDLESEX FARM BUREAU BULLETIN

The European corn borer is discussed in the bulletin issued this week by Louis V. Rowe of the Middlesex farm bureau, who is supervising demonstration gardens here. The bulletin follows:

The farmers and gardeners who are located within the European corn borer quarantine district have become alarmed over the news that their crop will be destroyed if found infested with the European corn borer. The latest official ruling of the state department of agriculture, however, states that corn infested with the European corn borer will not be destroyed until fall when a grand clean-up of the infested area will be made. The quarantine will be rigidly enforced and everything done to keep the borer within the infested district. It is up to every one of us to help in the control of this dangerous pest which threatens the corn crop of the country. Don't forget that it isn't too late to plant another crop of shell or string beans, beets or carrots. Try some corn lettuce, kohlrabi or Chinese cabbage if you have not grown any before. They are all easy to raise and it's ten to one you will never be without them again. Late cabbage and cauliflower plants may be set out too. You will harvest them before frost if you keep them growing.

Your cucumbers, squashes and melons need a thorough spraying of Bordeaux and arsenate of lead every week to 10 days. Don't neglect them. The plant lice or aphids have ruined many pea crops already. Inspect your potatoes and tomatoes every day or two for lice. In spraying for plant lice you have got to hit the culprit himself. Spraying the foliage won't do. When spraying with "Black leaf 40" for plant lice use the mixture stronger than what the manufacturer recommends and be sure to use soap with the mixture. Use 1½ teaspoonsful of "Black Leaf 40" and 1 cubic inch of common laundry soap to one gallon of water.

den hose will prove a satisfactory means of control for the plant lice. It washes them from the plants and a great many are killed.

Many gardeners have experienced a trouble of the tomato plant in which several of the leaves have a tendency to curl upward from each edge. This is a physiological condition of the plant which is still under investigation at the agricultural experiment stations. The exact cause as yet has not been ascertained. The plant does not seem to suffer any from this abnormal condition and generally outgrows it.

Do the weeds in your garden make it an eyesore in the neighborhood? The vegetables might just as well be getting the plant food and moisture that the weeds are consuming. Whatever you do, don't let the weeds go to seed. Take a file and put a good sharp edge on the hoe. It will make the job ten times easier, and while you are doing the weeding you might just as well thin the different vegetables to their proper distances. Letting root crops grow too thick is a common fault among the gardeners. If you plan to let your tomato vines run over the ground, spread lawn clippings or straw around the plants. This will help keep the fruit clean and also form a mulch which prevents evaporation of moisture from the soil. In the summer time the hoe and the cultivator are the gardeners' best friends.

HIT BY MOTORCYCLE

A maple tree planted years ago by the city of Brockton in front of the residence of E. F. O'Neill, West Elm street before its time, but somehow the seed of a wild cucumber vine became lodged in the fork of the tree and with the vines now beginning to spread the hanging garden is attracting much attention.

Here's Jack Dempsey's palm. Are you good at palm-reading? Do you agree with the Toledo medium who says Jack Dempsey's hand proves he will beat Willard on July 4 and win the heavyweight championship of the world?

palmist and spiritualistic medium who gave me a reading of Jack's palm so accurate and so thrilling I'm ready to go out and bet money on him myself! I can't tell you the lady's name because palmistry is "agin the law" in Toledo—(it seems to be about the only thing that's "agin the law" here)—and I don't want to get my friend in trouble.

This morning Jack Dempsey obligingly lanked his mighty right hand for me and impressed it firmly on a sheet of smooth white paper! Jack was too busy to chase a palmist with me this afternoon. He had a little scuffling date with Bill Tate, et al. at his training camp.

However, I sleuthed out the palmist lady, and flashed the palm impression on her as that of a friend of mine! Without knowing the identity of the palm's owner, here are her first remarks:

"He's in some kind of dangerous business! Is he an aviator? No—O—I see it isn't that—but it's something awfully dangerous. He must guard against an accident."

"He's in a specially critical time of his life right now—he must beware of an accident—but I see he's going to get through what he's tackling all right. I'd say he was in his twenties— isn't he? Young!"

Shook Hands With Valera

Dr. James T. Gallagher, of Charlestown, asked him if he would like to shake hands with the man about whom he was reading.

Rodgers was naturally surprised but the significance of the party in front of him dawned on him instantly and he soon made out the figure of Mr. de Valera. Mr. Gallagher introduced him to the provisional president as well as to Governor Bartlett of New Hampshire and Mr. de Valera's secretary, Harry J. Boland.

Several members of the party inquired what the building in front of them—the French orphanage—was and upon being told they got out of the machines and went into the yard where a number of the orphanage children were playing.

Mr. de Valera asked the youngsters if they could make a speech in French and they replied that they couldn't. He then suggested that they sing for him and they accommodated by singing several French numbers.

Before leaving the orphanage Mr. de Valera showered the children with money and oranges and by this time the puncture had been repaired and the party again resumed its journey to Manchester. It stayed here some 15 or 20 minutes.

Dr. Gallagher who introduced Rodgers to Mr. de Valera is well known to Lowell people. He is the author of

VESSELS IN COLLISION

Portland Schooner Sunk After Collision With Tank Steamer—Crew Saved

PORTLAND, Me., July 1.—The Portland schooner Topsail Girl, which discharged her cargo of sword fish at Boston yesterday, and the tank steamer Texaco 115, which was leaving for New York were in collision today in the main ship channel between the breakwater and Spring Point Light.

The schooner was beached on the South Portland shore, where she sank in shallow water with a large hole in her port bow. She filled so rapidly that Captain Wm. Johnson and his crew of eight men had no time to save their personal effects. With the exception of Eugene Burnham, who jumped from the rigging to the deck of the steamer, they got away safely in their dories.

Efforts were to be made at once to patch the hole and raise the vessel, which registers 62 tons. The steamer, little damaged, proceeded. She is owned by the Texas Oil company.

ANNOUNCE KRUPP PLANT "SOLD TO AMERICANS"

LONDON, July 1.—The Krupp works at Munich have been sold to Americans, according to despatches from Munich quoting newspapers there. It is added several industrial concerns in the Bavarian capital also have passed into American hands.

MUNICH, Monday, June 30 (By the Associated Press).—The local Krupp works are being liquidated purely in the interest of the employees, following the tremendous losses which have resulted since the revolution. American capitalists were considering taking over the plant and forming a German-American works, but abandoned the plan owing to bad conditions here.

FIGHT FIRE IN UNOCCUPIED HOUSE

An alarm from box 216 at 2:10 o'clock this morning summoned a portion of the fire department to an old unoccupied house in Lawrence street, near the corner of Wamsit street, where a lively blaze was in progress on the first floor of the building. Before the fire was extinguished the flames worked their way to the roof via the partitions, but the damage was not great.

One of the lodgers at 86 Worthen street, while enjoying a smoke in his bed at 2:21 o'clock this morning, saw the bed afire and an alarm from box 12 was sent in. The blaze, which destroyed the bed, was confined to the room.

Lazy Life During Hot Months Causes Lazy Liver

At no other time is the girl so content a companion of her mother as when she is emerging into womanhood. There are so many questions to ask; so much she needs to know.

And school is over. Here is now a lazy, inactive, careless life. No wonder she is not always as lively and as well as she should be at her age. Let the mother inquire if the bowels are functioning properly, for there lies the basis of good and poor health. It will usually be found that a laxative is needed, and none will give safer and quicker relief than Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin which is just a combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin. Taken tonight, it acts freely and pleasantly in the morning. The head is again clear, the body light. There is renewed interest in life. A dose of Syrup Pepsin now and then is almost a necessity for everyone in hot weather. A laxative can be bought at any drug store for 50c and 5c, the latter being the family size, or a festive bottle can be had by sending your address to Dr. W. B. Raise Pay of All City Employees

CHICAGO, July 1.—Troubles of the city with its employees over wages seemed nearer solution today as the result of the council's action in raising the wages of all classes of city workers.

Eight hundred city hall clerks who struck yesterday were expected to return to their desks, having been granted an increase of wages to $1500 a year. The firemen and policemen were raised from $1500 a year to $1800, and street cleaners and garbage collectors were given 50c a day additional.

EAGLES' GRAND LODGE SUES BOSTON AERIE

BOSTON, July 1.—In a bill in equity filed in the superior court yesterday by the Fraternal Order of Eagles against John N. Keenan, Jr., John D. Carmody, secretary and treasurer of Boston, Aerie No. 45, of the order, and others, the allegation is made that the charter of the Boston Aerie has been revoked by the grand lodge because of the sale of intoxicating liquor to non-members, brawls in the buffet, misappropriation of profits of the buffet and other reasons.

By the bill the grand lodge seeks to get the funds of the local branch and asks for an accounting from the officers named, and for an injunction to restrain them from expending the funds, and also to have the banks in which the funds are deposited ordered to turn the moneys over to the grand lodge.

The case will come up Thursday on an order of notice. The bill alleges an investigation was made of charges against the local lodge and the report of the trial committee was sustained by the grand lodge.

The committee reported that the local lodge defied the authority of the grand lodge, violated the laws of Massachusetts in permitting non-members to patronize the buffet and purchase directly or indirectly intoxicating liquors, permitted a man to vote who had been suspended from membership for non-payment of dues and continued to run the buffet in violation of an order from the grand lodge.

The committee further reported the conduct of the buffet brought the lodge into disrepute, that profits had been dissipated to some extent, that there had been misappropriation of $1200, that fights have occurred in the rooms of the local lodge and in its buffet, resulting in injury to men, and that vile epithets have been applied to officers at sessions, followed by brawls and fights.

PRESENTED PURSE OF GOLD

Frank Woods, the very genial waiter at the Sheffield lunch, corner of Central and Market streets, got married last Wednesday and while getting married ought to be enough to make any man happy. Frank's happiness was increased by the thoughtfulness and generosity of his fellow workers in the restaurant who presented him a purse of gold. Now gold and more happiness is the word we wish you, Frank.

THIRTY YEARS ON POLICE FORCE

On Sunday, June 23, Patrolman William H. O'Brien completed 30 years service with the local police department, having been appointed by the late Mayor Palmer. Mr. O'Brien has gone ten years beyond the half-century mark, but he's as spry as the average man at 40. During his first 11 years of service he worked nights and for the last 19 years he has had a day beat. His present beat is in Belvidere.

SOMETHING CHEAPER THANK GOODNESS

With the resumption of two-cent postage at 12:01 a. m. today, Postmaster Meahan believes the Lowell office has started one of the busiest weeks in its history, with a volume of business exceeded only by some Christmas weeks.

Purchasers of large quantities of two-cent stamps by business houses will account for most of the increased business, according to the postmaster. Officials of the Lowell office doubt that any considerable quantity of mail matter will be held over until today to take advantage of the lower rate.

The old rate was resumed in Lowell just after midnight today, as was the case at all postoffices in the country. Clerks on duty at the stamp windows came to work today prepared to keep on the jump every minute, and judging by the business which flowed in during the morning hours, they were not disappointed.

The postmaster believes that the lower rate will mean that more letters and postal cards will be mailed from Lowell in the future, and he looks for a large increase in advertising matter in particular. Lowell folk who still have a quantity of three-cent stamps on hand cannot redeem them at present, as there is no provision by the postmaster general's department for refunding money paid in.

However, these people need not be at a loss, says the postmaster, as the three-cent stamps may be used on letters weighing over an ounce, which require four-cent postage. Most all who have three-cent stamps left will hold them for this purpose, he claims. Three-cent stamped envelopes and two-cent postal cards can be redeemed at the local office, but it is believed that most of these will be used up.
